PREFACE

It was an historic moment in political history of Pakistan, when an elected government completed its Constitutional term and another government was installed through peaceful transition after general elections held in May, 2013. In fact, elections and democracy are, in a sense, synonymous. Elections make a fundamental contribution to democratic governance, enabling voters to elect their representatives and to hold them accountable for their performance, which is essence of democracy. Elections have become a major factor in the stabilization and democratization of emerging democracies like Pakistan.

2. The Election Commission had to face many challenges before the conduct of general elections which task it completed under the leadership of former Chief Election Commissioner, Mr. Justice Fakhar-ud-Din G. Ebrahim and the learned Members of Election Commission. It was a daunting exercise which was accomplished by dedication and hard work shown by all officers and officials of the Commission who were led by former Secretary Mr. Ishtiaq Ahmed Khan. The elections were observed by a large number of domestic and international observers, who termed the elections as substantially better and fair than previous elections. An Inquiry Commission headed by the then Chief Justice of Pakistan probed into the conduct of elections.

3. After general elections, the Election Commission held various post-election review workshops, interviews and Focused Group Discussions with its own field officers, District Returning Officers, Returning Officers, Presiding Officers and cross section of society to assess the quality of elections held and to identify shortcomings in the process. On the basis of their feedback, the Election Commission has developed its Second Five Year Strategic Plan, which will help in further improving and streamlining its organizational and operational capabilities.

4. I am confident that this Report will serve as an important reference document for scholars, students of political science and other electoral stakeholders.

(Justice Sardar Muhammad Raza)
Chief Election Commissioner.

Islamabad, 01st June, 2016.

CHAPTER-I INTRODUCTION

Democracy is regarded as the best way to provide a voice for the most vulnerable of groups and individuals and the only way to change governments by peaceful means. Foundation of any democracy is right to vote. This right is fundamental in nature. A country cannot be truly democratic until its citizens have the opportunity to choose their representatives through elections that are free and fair. Elections provide an important opportunity to advance democratization and encourage political liberalization. In Pakistan, inter alia, the responsibility to hold elections to the Parliament and Provincial Assemblies rests with the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP), which has been conducting elections in the country for over fifty years.

Elections in Pakistan

2. Elections to provincial legislatures were held sporadically since the country was founded in 1947. Local government elections were also held in some Provinces but these were all managed by respective provincial governments. ECP as an independent Election Management Body was, for the first time, envisaged in first Constitution of the country adopted in 1956. But two years later this Constitution was abrogated. In 1959 Basic Democracies' system was introduced by the then military regime whereby 80,000 local council members were elected through direct vote, who then assumed the role of Electoral College for electing members of the National and Provincial Assemblies as well as the President. The ECP conducted indirect elections for National and Provincial Assemblies in 1962 and 1965 and for the office of the President on 2nd January, 1965. Elections for local councils were also conducted by the ECP. It was in 1970, when first election was held on adult franchise basis for National and Provincial Assemblies. Since then, general elections have been held in 1977, 1985, 1988, 1990, 1993, 1997, 2002 and 2008. General elections held in May 2013 were tenth general elections in the country.

Political scenario prior to 2013 elections

3. Previous general elections were held on 18th February, 2008. Pakistan Peoples Party Parliamentarians (PPPP), Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz) (PML-N) and Awami National Party (ANP) agreed to form a coalition government at the center and in the provinces. These coalition partners in the National Assembly elected Mr. Yousaf Raza Gillani as Prime Minister of Pakistan by more than two-third majority on 24th March, 2008. The Prime Minister immediately ordered release of deposed Judges of Superior Courts kept under detention for over four and a half months. The PML-N later on quit the ruling coalition on 25th August, 2008 because of differences with the PPP on various issues.

4. Mr. Asif Ali Zardari replaced General Pervez Musharraf as President of Pakistan in 2008. General Musharraf was holding reigns of power since 1999 when he had deposed the then Prime Minister Muhammad Nawaz Sharif. Finance Ministers of the four provinces and the Federal Government signed the 7th National Finance Commission Award on 30th December, 2009. The agreement was hailed as the first step towards the provinces' financial autonomy and a philosophical shift in government policy to enhance the provinces' shares.

5. On 8th April, 2010, the National Assembly passed the 18th Amendment to the Constitution of Pakistan, abolishing the President's power to unilaterally dissolve the National Assembly. The amendment also renamed North West Frontier Province as Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. It went through the Senate on April 15, 2010 and became an Act of Parliament after being signed by President Asif Ali Zardari the same month. Due to the 18th Amendment, the Parliamentary system was restored to its original spirit as described in the Constitution of 1973 and the democratic governance was strengthened.

6. The 18th Amendment immensely impacted the ECP and its legal framework. For the very first time, a permanent Election Commission was established. Another important amendment was the empowerment of the ECP through Article 140A whereby responsibility of holding local government elections was entrusted to it. The 18th Amendment also laid down more open and consultative process of appointment of the Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) and the Members of the ECP through a Parliamentary Committee having equal representation of the treasury and opposition benches.

7. A seven members Bench of the Supreme Court of Pakistan declared Prime Minister Mr. Yousaf Raza Gillani as disqualified on 19th June, 2012 from holding a seat in the Parliament from the date of his conviction on account of contempt of court. Raja Pervez Ashraf of PPPP was elected as next Prime Minister. For the second time in the democratic history of Pakistan, the elected governments completed their constitutional term of five years in office and Assemblies stood dissolved with smooth transition of power to the caretaker setup.

General Elections, 2013

8. General Elections were held on 11th May 2013. These elections had the largest number of registered voters i.e. 86,189,835, which included 37,597,343 women and 48,592,492 men. There were 10,958 contesting candidates including 419 women. The number of election observers, both national and international, touched 50,000. Besides, a very active electronic and print media closely watched these elections. The ECP handled the entire logistic operations in a very professional manner and made available all polling staff and materials so that more than 69,000 polling stations could open on time and voters were able to cast their votes. Following are some key activities that the ECP undertook prior to the general elections.

Electoral Rolls with Photographs

9. The ECP, by using the country's national civil registry database, managed by the National Database and Registration Authority (NADRA), generated electoral rolls that carry National Identity Card (NIC) number of each voter as a 'unique identifier'. A blank box was added in the electoral roll against the name of each voter for getting thumb print of voters. For the May 2013 General Elections, the ECP prepared and printed the first ever voter list with photographs, which was used at the polling stations across the country. It is considered by political parties and other stakeholders as one of the most important reform to improve the quality of elections in the country.

SMS Service for Voters

10. Continuing with its reform process and in order to facilitate the voters across the country, ECP launched its 8300 SMS service, whereby a voter could send his/her NIC number from cell phone on 8300 to check his/her voting particulars such as the serial number on the voters' list where his/her name was appearing; polling station location and census block code, etc. The system was very helpful to voters, which was used by approximately 55 million voters just a few days before the day of polls.

Codes of Conduct

11. For the general elections 2013, the ECP prepared and implemented five codes of conduct, which covered political parties and contesting candidates, observers, media, polling personnel, and security personnel. The Code of Conduct for Political Parties and Candidates was printed in newspapers prior to its approval by the Commission in order to seek comments and suggestions from the political parties and the general public, and to make sure that the issues, if any, were addressed.

Campaign Monitoring

12. The ECP deployed monitoring teams in order to monitor and report violations of the code of conduct by political parties and candidates during campaign period. This, again, was a new initiative taken by the ECP to make the general elections 2013 more fair and transparent. The monitoring teams served as a deterrent against violations and were supposed to be helpful to DROs and ROs to take actions against violations. However, due to paucity of time for their effective training, these teams could not prove their utility as was envisaged.

Separate Bank Account for Campaign Expenditure

13. The ECP, at the direction of the Supreme Court of Pakistan, made it mandatory for contesting candidates to have separate bank account for each of the constituencies they intended to contest from. This was to ensure that the candidates observe the ceiling of Rs.1.5 million and one million for National Assembly and Provincial Assembly elections respectively – already provided in the Representation of the People Act 1976.

New Nomination Form

14. To ensure that contesting candidates fulfill the conditions to compete in the election as laid down in the Constitution, the ECP revised the Nomination Form requiring candidates, inter alia, to provide additional information about taxes, an affidavit about dual nationality and their contribution in legislation if the candidate was a member of one of the previous Assemblies. The nomination form was used after its approval by the Commission.

Nomination Booklet for Contesting Candidates

15. The ECP developed and distributed a nomination booklet with necessary information about the process of filing a nomination paper and extracts from the law to facilitate the contesting candidates. The handbook was very well received by political parties and candidates.

Training of District Returning Officers and Returning Officers

16. With the aim to equip them with required knowledge, the ECP organized training for all DROs and ROs prior to the General Elections. The training was also helpful in implementing new initiatives that the ECP introduced for the general elections.

Training of Polling Personnel

17. The ECP with technical assistance provided by the IFES and UNDP imparted training to over 644,000 polling staff including 70,000 Presiding Officers to manage around 69,000 polling stations all over the country. It was a massive exercise that involved 60 Lead Trainers and nearly 3000 Master Trainers. A large quantity of training materials was procured, printed and dispatched to the training venues. The UNDP managed polling staff training in the Punjab whereas IFES covered Balochistan, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Sindh provinces and the Federally Administered Tribal Areas (FATAs).

Result Management System

18. The ECP designed, developed and implemented the first-ever comprehensive Result Management System (RMS) with the support of UNDP. The compilation of a database of elections' results in the RMS was a significant achievement for the ECP. The ECP's RMS database contains data from 127,483 results' forms (64,297 polling station results for 265 National Assembly constituencies and 63,186 polling station results for 538 Provincial Assembly constituencies). This constitutes over 90% of polling station results and the database is continuously being updated with results from subsequent bye-elections. The database has captured not only digitized data from individual polling stations but also scanned images of polling station results' forms (Statement of the Count – Form XIV). This information is being used to analyze voter turnout and subsequently to analyze voting patterns.

Gender Disaggregated Voter Turnout

19. An important initiative of the ECP was the introduction of a column in Form-XIV used for recording vote count at polling stations by presiding officers, requiring information about the number of male and female voters, who polled their votes in the election.

Voter Education Plan and Voter Awareness

20. In 2012 the ECP developed its first ever Voter Education Plan containing six parts, which was successfully implemented. The same year, ECP not only declared 17th October as National Voters' Day by organizing countrywide events involving all stakeholders but also launched its district-centered national voter outreach program where the ECP's district offices became hubs for voter education activities. Material was printed and provided to the ECP's district offices for further distribution to civil society organizations. Serious efforts were made to engage public and private sector organizations to take part in disseminating voter education materials. The ECP's partners embarked upon social media initiatives and women-focused efforts to increase voter turnout. All these concerted efforts led to 53.62 percent voter turnout in the 2013 general elections - the highest in the last three decades. The increased voter turnout is a major success and ECP intends to continue working on different methodologies in order to further increase voter turnout.

Appointment of Election Tribunals

21. Unlike past practice, for trial and disposal of election petitions arisen from general elections 2013, ECP appointed Election Tribunals from amongst the serving Judges of the High Court as well as retired District and Sessions Judges, qualified to be appointed as High Court Judges. The latter were appointed on contractual basis. All necessary support was provided to them enabling them to decide the election petitions in the shortest possible time. The ECP will reassess effectiveness of this initiative so that further decisions could be taken in light thereof.

Better Security Arrangements

22. In view of serious security threats and a challenging law and order situation, ECP made special efforts to ensure that the electoral environment during the campaign period and on the poll day remains peaceful. Law enforcement agencies, the armed forces, rangers, frontier constabulary, police, provincial and federal governments extended their full cooperation and support to ECP to achieve this end. Training of security personnel was also arranged.

Internally Displaced Persons Voting

23. The 2013 general elections were unique in the sense that for the first time the internally displaced persons (IDPs) exercised their right to vote for their home constituencies while being in IDP camps or host communities. A total of 358,160 IDPs in KPK were registered to vote in seven FATA constituencies. Of those, 23 percent or 81,440 cast their votes. This turnout was deemed a success, particularly in contrast to 2008 General Elections when the ECP established around 15 polling stations for IDPs, but not a single vote was cast.

Tamper-Evident Bags

24. In order to ensure safe communication of election results, ECP introduced tamper evident bags. The use of these bags was a shift from regular paper bags so that the Statement of the Count (Form-XIV) and Ballot Paper Account (Form-XV) could be transferred from a polling station to the office of the Returning Officer without being tampered with. Similarly, these bags were also used to send consolidated results from the Returning Officers to the ECP Secretariat, Islamabad.

CHAPTER-II

THE ELECTION COMMISSION, PARLIAMENT AND PROVINCIAL ASSEMBLIES

Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP)

The ECP was envisaged for the first time in the Constitution of Pakistan promulgated in 1956. The institution was retained in subsequent Constitutions of 1962 and 1973. Article 218 of 1973 Constitution required formation of an Election Commission for every general election in the country. However, the 18th Amendment to the Constitution inter alia made it a permanent institution. Over the years, ECP has undergone a transformation that has changed its outlook and it has become dynamic and flexible institution that sees its future as a body playing its role effectively for strengthening the country's democratic representation system.

2. The complexity and skills required for the management of elections demands that some specific institution should be responsible for electoral activities, commonly known as Election Management Body (EMB). Such bodies across the democratic world are responsible for managing electoral affairs with a wide range of titles such as "Election Commission", "Department of Elections", "Electoral Council", "Election Unit", or "Electoral Board". In emerging democracies, there is increasing trend to establish independent EMB. This is seen as an important step in developing a tradition of independence and impartiality as well as building confidence of the stakeholders in the election processes.

Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) and the Election Commission

3. The ECP has been established under the Constitution and consists of the CEC as its Chairman and four Members each of whom is a former Judge of the High Court from each Province.¹ The CEC and each Member are appointed by the President of Pakistan for a term of five years. The CEC has to be a serving or former Judge of the Supreme Court or of a High Court, qualified to be appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court. Appointment of the CEC and Members is made on the recommendation of a Parliamentary Committee comprising twelve members drawn equally from Treasury and Opposition Benches of both Houses, one third being from the Senate. The Prime Minister after consultation with the Leader of Opposition in the National Assembly forwards three names for each position to the Parliamentary Committee for hearing and confirmation of one name. In case of disagreement between the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, both may forward separate lists for consideration by the Parliamentary Committee. For the conduct of General Elections 2013, the Election Commission consisted of—

Mr. Justice (R) Fakhruddin G. Ebrahim, CEC/Chairman of the Commission

Mr. Justice (R) Muhammed Roshan Essani, Member

Mr. Justice (R) Riaz Kiyani, Member

Mr. Justice (R) Shahzad Akbar Khan, Member

Mr. Justice (R) Fazal-ur-Rahman, Member

Functions of the Election Commission

4. The ECP is charged with the responsibility of organizing and conducting elections to the office of the President, the Senate, National and Provincial Assemblies and local governments honestly, justly, fairly and in accordance with law. Its functions also include the preparation of electoral rolls and revising such rolls annually, delimitation of constituencies, appointing Election Tribunals and filling up casual vacancies in the Parliament, Provincial Assemblies and the local governments.

Assistance to the Election Commission

5. Under Article 220 of the Constitution, all executive authorities in the Federation and in the Provinces are bound to assist the CEC and the ECP in the discharge of his or its functions.²

Achievements of the Election Commission

6. Despite various challenges, ECP has successfully conducted general elections in the country from 1970 through 2013. The 2013 general elections were the tenth elections held on the basis of direct vote. Prior to 1970, indirect elections to the National and Provincial Assemblies had been held by the ECP. With the introduction of new Local Government system in the country under the Devolution Plan in 2000, the elections to the Local Government institutions were conducted in 2001 and 2005 by the CEC. The ECP has been managing elections in the country that stands sixth in the world in terms of its population, which cannot be said to be an easy task.

Organizational Structure of ECP

7. While overall leadership of the ECP rests with the CEC, the Secretary ECP manages the human and material resources, formulates policies and applies them in order to create conditions where the ECP is able to effectively perform its functions. The Secretary has the support of Additional Secretaries and various Director Generals. In the hierarchical set-up, the Director Generals are assisted by a number of Additional Director Generals, Directors and Deputy Directors. The ECP has more than 2280 staff members across the country. Following paragraphs give an overview of the current organizational structure of ECP.

Election Commission' Secretariat

8. The Secretariat of the ECP is situated in Islamabad and is headed by the Secretary, ECP, who manages the functions of the organization throughout the country. The Secretariat consists of four Wings: Election Wing, Budget Wing, Administration Wing and Local Government Elections Wing. Each of the Wings is headed by a Director General. The Director Generals are assisted by a certain number of Additional Director Generals. The Wings are divided into various sections headed by Deputy Directors and are staffed by a number of Assistant Directors, Senior Assistants, Senior Personal Assistants, Junior Personal Assistants, Junior Assistants, Sub-Assistants and others. In addition to above, there are two Directorates in ECP Secretariat i.e. Directorates of Information Technology and Public Relations. The former is headed by a Director General, who is assisted by two Directors and some Assistant Directors. The Public Relations Directorate is led by an Additional Director General, who is assisted by a Director, a Deputy Director and an Assistant Director. The Deputy Director (PR) also takes care of the ECP's library whereas the Research Branch is headed by a Director (Research).

Provincial Election Commissioners' Offices

9. The provincial set-up of the ECP is headed by a Provincial Election Commissioner (PEC). The PECs' offices are located in the four provincial capitals: Karachi, Lahore, Peshawar and Quetta. The PECs are supported by the Joint Provincial Election

Commissioners (JPECs)—there is one JPEC in each of the four provincial offices. Each PEC office also houses Director (s), a few Deputy Directors and a number of Assistant Directors and other supporting staff. With the introduction of Information Technology in the ECP every province has a Director MIS (Management Information System) assisted by two Deputy Directors, one Hardware Expert and Data Entry Operators. The PEC Office manages the affairs of the province with the help of Regional Election Commissioners (at Divisional Level) and District Election Commissioners (DECs) and Election Officers (EOs) at the district level.

Regional Election Commissioners' Offices

10. The ECP has assigned 26 Regional Election Commissioners (REC) to as many revenue divisions in the country. The RECs mainly play the role of a link between the PEC Office and DECs. They also liaise with the divisional and district administration and other public stakeholders in their respective jurisdiction.

District Election Commissioners' Offices

11. The lowest tier of the ECP's organizational set-up in the country is at the district level, headed by a District Election Commissioner (DEC). There are 131 such district/agency offices throughout Pakistan (124 Districts and 7 Agencies). The DEC is assisted by an Election Officer. In addition to managing the district office and establishing and maintaining liaison with district administration and other executive authorities, the DEC is also the Registration Officer tasked with maintaining electoral rolls. The staff working with each DEC includes Election Officer, Junior Assistant, Sub-Assistant, etc.

The Parliament

12. The Parliament (Majlis-e-Shoora) consists of the President as the Head of the State, who represents the unity of the Republic and two Houses to be known as the Senate and the National Assembly².

² Article 50 of the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan.

The Senate

13. The Senate of Pakistan, also known as the Upper House of the Parliament, is a body which has representation of the Provinces and other territories of the country and promotes a feeling of equality, peace and harmony, essential for the growth and prosperity of the nation. According to Article 59 of the Constitution, Senate consists of 104 Members and is not subject to dissolution. The main purpose of its creation is to provide a forum with equal representation from all the federating units (Provinces), since the representation in the National Assembly of the provinces and other territories forming part of the Federation is unequal as the seats allocated to it are based on the population of each Province/territory. The equality of representation in the Senate balances the inequality of provincial representation in the National Assembly, dispels doubts and apprehensions and helps eliminate the sense of deprivation and exploitation, if any. Thus the Senate, over the years, has emerged as a stabilizing factor for the federation in Pakistan. The Senate elections are held in accordance with the system of proportional representation by means of single transferable vote. The Members of the Senate are elected for a term of six years and half of them retire after every three years. Category-wise division of seats in the Senate is as under:

Area/ Province	General Seats	Seats Reserved For			Total
		Women	Technocrats	Non- Muslims
Federal Capital	2	1	1	-	4
Punjab	14	4	4	1	23
Sindh	14	4	4	1	23
KPK	14	4	4	1	23
FATA	8	0	0	-	8
Balochistan	14	4	4	1	23
Total:	66	17	17	4	104

The National Assembly

14. The National Assembly of Pakistan is the country's sovereign legislative body. It embodies the will of the people to let them be governed under the democratic, multi-party Federal Parliamentary System. The National Assembly makes laws for the Federation in respect of the items enumerated in the Federal Legislative list. The National Assembly, through its Public Accounts Committee, scrutinizes public spending and exercises control of expenditure incurred by the government.

15. The National Assembly, also known as the Lower House of the Parliament, consists of 342 Members (272 General seats, 60 seats reserved for Women and 10 seats reserved for non-Muslims). General seats are filled by direct vote in accordance with law on the basis of single member territorial constituency. The seats reserved for women are filled through proportional representation system of political parties' list of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats secured by each political party from the Province concerned in the National Assembly. Each Province is a single constituency for all women seats allocated to that Province under Article 51(1A) of the Constitution. Likewise, the seats reserved for non-Muslims are also filled through proportional representation system of political parties' lists of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats won by each political party in the National Assembly. The constituency for all seats reserved for non-Muslims in the National Assembly is the whole of Pakistan. Category-wise number of seats in the National Assembly is as under:

Areas / Provinces	2013 Elections			Total
	General	Women	Non-Muslim
Balochistan	14	3	-	17
Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa	35	8	-	43
Punjab	148	35	-	183
Sindh	61	14	-	75
FATA	12	-	-	12
Islamabad	2	-	-	2
Total Seats	272	60	10	342

Composition of Provincial Assemblies

16. Like National Assembly, Members of the Provincial Assemblies for the general seats are elected by direct vote on the basis of single member territorial constituencies in each Province. The seats reserved for Women and non-Muslims are allocated to the political parties in accordance with the law through proportional representation system of political parties' lists of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats secured by each political party in the Provincial Assembly. Each Province is a single constituency for all seats reserved for Women and non-Muslims allocated to that Province. The composition of Provincial Assemblies is as under:

Province	2013 Elections			Total
	General	Women	Non-Muslim
Balochistan	51	11	3	65
Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa	99	22	3	124
Punjab	297	66	8	371
Sindh	130	29	9	168
Grand Total	577	128	23	728

CHAPTER-III

LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR GENERAL ELECTIONS

Legal Framework Explained

The term "legal framework" generally refers to all laws and rules framed thereunder as well as the directives and instructions issued from time to time by the Election Management Body (EMB) responsible for holding an election. Specifically, the "legal framework for elections" includes applicable constitutional provisions, electoral laws as passed by the Legislature and the rules framed thereunder as well as all other laws that are applicable to an electoral activity. It also encompasses relevant directives and/or instructions meant for the regulation of different electoral processes issued from time to time by the EMB as well as related codes of conduct, voluntary or otherwise, which may have a direct or indirect impact on the electoral process³.

2. In above context, the ECP has a comprehensive legal framework available for conduct of general elections to National/ Provincial Assemblies. The Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, as amended from time to time, provides the basic legal framework for conduct of various elections. Composition of National Assembly, the Senate and Provincial Assemblies has been provided under Articles 51, 59 and 106 of the Constitution respectively along with the manner to elect the members of the aforesaid elected bodies. The Constitution also provides for qualifications and disqualifications for being a member of the Parliament and Provincial Assemblies⁴.

Legal Framework for General Elections 2013

3. Part-VIII of the Constitution contains the provisions with regard to appointment of CEC and members of the Commission, duties and functions of the Commission, term of office of the CEC and a Member, appointment of Acting CEC, Electoral Laws, bar against dual membership, timeframe for a general election and bye-election to fill a casual vacancy, election by secret ballot, etc. Through the 18th Amendment to the Constitution, certain amendments have been made whereby duties of the ECP have been increased with reference to preparation and revision of electoral rolls, conduct of election to the office of the President, filling of casual vacancies, conduct of election to the Senate and local governments. Through the said amendment the method with regard to appointment of CEC and the Members of the Commission has also been changed as explained in the previous Chapter. It may be noted that the legal framework for conduct of general elections to the National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies held on 11th May, 2013 remained the same, as was available during the conduct of general elections, 2008.

³ IDEA-International Electoral Standards-Guidelines for reviewing the legal framework of elections.

⁴ Articles 62 & 63 of the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan.

4. The Representation of the People Act, 1976 and the rules framed there-under provide the detailed procedures for the conduct of general elections to National and Provincial Assemblies. In addition, the following Laws, Rules, Orders were also available to organize and manage various electoral activities:

- The Delimitation of Constituencies Act, 1974
- The Electoral Rolls Act, 1974
- The Electoral Rolls Rules, 1974
- The Political Parties Order, 2002
- The Political Parties Rules, 2002
- The Allocation of Symbols Order, 2002
- The National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies Allocation of reserved seats for women and non-Muslims (Procedure) Rules, 2002.

5. The ECP also issued various Directives and instructions for conduct of elections in a smooth and orderly manner. Besides, Codes of conduct were issued for political parties and candidates, polling personnel, observers, media and security personnel for regulating their activities during the conduct of elections.

CHAPTER-IV ELECTORAL ROLLS

Voter registration is crucial for political participation in a democratic context. It guarantees basic right of all eligible citizens to participate in the affairs of their government and is one of the cornerstones of democracy. Therefore, authentic, updated and error free electoral rolls are pre-requisite for conducting free and fair elections in any country. The accuracy and credibility of the electoral rolls has direct impact on credibility and acceptance of whole electoral process, as this is a fundamental instrument towards self-contained, sustainable and transparent electoral system. As such, the importance of accurate and error free electoral rolls cannot be over-emphasized. The ECP fully conscious of the importance of this basic document made every possible effort to ensure that the electoral rolls are reliable, inclusive and free of spurious entries. It prepared computerized electoral rolls for general elections held in May, 2013. These electoral rolls have been generally acknowledged by all stakeholders as accurate and credible.

Legal Framework

2. According to the Constitution⁵ the Election Commission is responsible for preparation of electoral rolls for election to the National Assembly, Provincial Assemblies and Local Governments and revising such rolls annually. The activities pertaining to preparation, printing and distribution of electoral rolls and revision thereof through related registration process is carried out in accordance with the procedure laid down in the Electoral Rolls Act, 1974 and the Rules framed thereunder as amended from time to time. Any person is entitled to be enrolled as voter in an electoral area, if he/she⁶:

- a. Is a citizen of Pakistan;
- b. Is not less than eighteen years of age and possesses National Identity Card issued by the National Database and Registration Authority (NADRA);
- c. Is not declared by a competent Court to be of unsound mind; and

⁵ Article 219 of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

⁶ Section 6 of the Electoral Rolls Act, 1974

- d. Is or is deemed to be, a resident in the electoral area (where he or she wants to be enrolled as a voter).

Computerized Electoral Rolls System (CERS)

3. The electoral rolls were prepared afresh by the ECP in the year 2012, mainly due to the following reasons:

- a. Electoral Rolls based on Computerized National Identity Card (CNIC).– The Electoral Rolls used in 2008 general elections were prepared on the basis of CNIC as well as old National Identity Card and even, in some cases, without any National Identity Card number. In 2010, it was decided to develop computerized electoral rolls system (CERS) based on CNIC, issued by National Database and Registration Authority (NADRA) as its number was used as a “unique identifier” for preparing error free electoral rolls.
- b. Increase in Census Blocks – The Electoral Rolls 2007-08 were prepared on the basis of 1,02,303 census blocks whereas the Population Census Organization, during housing census held in 2011, increased the number of census blocks upto 1,39,925 and the ECP decided to adopt fresh census blocks as basic unit for preparation of the electoral rolls.
- c. Registration of Younger Generation – Registration of younger generation attaining the prescribed age of 18 years as voters.
- d. Migrations – A large number of persons migrated from one electoral area or constituency to other location(s), district, province or foreign countries in pursuit of their education, profession or due to any other reason.
- e. Marriages – Relocation of girls on marriage from one area to another.
- f. Deaths – Particulars of voters who had died needed to be deleted during the preparation/revision of the Electoral Rolls.
- g. Leftovers – Persons, who had not been registered due to any reason, especially women, Khawaja Saras (transgender) and socially excluded communities.

Preparation/Revision of Electoral Rolls

4. In the year 2010, in order to further improve the quality of the electoral rolls, it was decided that multiple and bogus registration needs to be removed and this could only be achieved if each voter is uniquely identified. The NIC issued by NADRA provides requisite 'unique' citizen identification, and for this reason, the ECP had decided to explore the possibility of collaboration with NADRA in order to produce high quality electoral rolls without duplicate or bogus records with a concept of One NIC - One Vote. In order to achieve this objective, the Commission decided to establish a CERS as stated above by using the state-of-the-art technologies and in this regard, detailed consultations were made with NADRA wherein it was inter alia concluded that unless NIC is made mandatory requirement for registration as a voter by making necessary amendment in the law and the number of NIC is used as unique identifier, the objective of establishing CERS cannot be achieved. Accordingly, necessary amendment in the Electoral Rolls Act, 1974 was made whereby the NIC issued by NADRA was declared mandatory for registration as a voter which paved the way for the establishment of CERS.

5. Thereafter, a detailed plan was prepared to describe the process of ECP-NADRA data collaboration and subsequent door-to-door verification. With a view to verify the validity of the proposed methodology, the whole process was tested through a Pilot Project in four Districts, one in each Province, namely Vehari (Punjab), Swabi (Khyber Pakhtunkhwa), Karachi East (Sindh) and Quetta (Balochistan). The Pilot Project was implemented to verify the results of ECP-NADRA collaboration through door-to-door verification in a small number of trial regions. For this purpose, 60 electoral areas were selected, 15 each from 4 districts with a mix of urban and rural locations. On the basis of data analysis carried out after the Pilot Project, ECP-NADRA collaboration for revision of electoral rolls using citizen database and the number of NIC as unique identifier was found to be feasible. As a first step of ECP-NADRA collaboration for revision of the Electoral Rolls, the data already available in the Final Electoral Rolls 2007 (FER-2007) was handed-over to NADRA for its verification/comparison with their civil registry data. After the successful implementation of ECP-NADRA collaboration Pilot Project, a contract was signed between ECP and NADRA for full scale revision of Electoral Rolls on 27th June, 2011.

6. In the meanwhile, Pakistan Census Organization (PCO) for the purpose of population census revised the whole scheme of Census Charges, Circles and Blocks as a result of which, the total number of Census Block Codes (CBCs) was increased from 102,303 to 139,925, thereby creating new blocks by making changes in the demarcation of existing blocks. It was accordingly decided that ECP would adopt new Census Scheme, notified by the PCO, for the revision of Electoral Rolls.

7. In view of the above, an exercise was undertaken for collecting data containing NIC number of head of each household from all houses of newly demarcated Census Blocks on a prescribed proforma through the Enumeration Staff engaged by the PCO during housing census (گهرانه شماری) in 2011 and the said data was handed over to NADRA for the preparation of Draft Electoral Rolls (DER). The DER comprising 80.1 million voters was prepared by NADRA on the basis of NIC number of head of each household and family tree data, which was used during door to door verification and registration of votes of all eligible voters. After door to door verification, copies of verified DER along with forms for additions, deletions and corrections, collected during the exercise, were sent to NADRA for preparation of Preliminary Electoral Rolls (PER). Over 75 million or 93.87% of voters on the DER were verified either in-person or through a family member.

8. The PER comprising 80.4 million voters was displayed / published for inviting claims, objections and applications for corrections in around 50,000 display centers established across the country for 21 days. At that stage the ECP introduced 8300-SMS to facilitate the voters to check their voting details. For deciding claims, objections and corrections the Revising Authorities were appointed, whose decisions were incorporated in the PER and sent back to NADRA for preparation and printing of Final Electoral Rolls. As a result of this exercise, 2.38 million voters were increased.

9. Before publication of Final Electoral Rolls (FER)-2012, ECP decided that all new NIC holders would be registered as voters after door to door verification. In this regard, CBC wise lists of new NIC holders (approx. 1.58 million, issued by NADRA after DER) were obtained from NADRA and after their door to door verification those were registered as voters. The FER comprising 84.36 million voters were published by ECP on 31st July, 2012, and thereafter Section-18 of the Electoral Rolls Act, 1974 became operative till the announcement of election schedule and the District Election Commissioners / Registration Officers (DEC/RO) entertained applications for enrollment of eligible voters, corrected voters' particulars in electoral rolls, deleted the votes of deceased persons and also entertained / decided objections raised by any voter on the Electoral Rolls. Besides, ECP realized that those persons who obtained NIC after the publication of FER-2012 were required to be registered as voters before general elections–2013. For this purpose, two separate door-to-door exercises were conducted after obtaining the lists from NADRA which proved fruitful and the total votes increased from 84.36 million to 86.18 million.

10. After final publication of electoral rolls on 31st July, 2012, some political parties filed constitutional petitions before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of Pakistan, inter alia, praying therein that the ECP be directed to prepare fresh electoral rolls eliminating all bogus votes and incorporating the new eligible votes who can be verified from relevant database and record of NADRA etc. The constitution petition No.111 of 2012 filed by Ameer Jamat-e-Islami specifically prayed that electoral rolls of Karachi be declared illegal and unlawful and that the respondent (ECP) be directed to revise the electoral rolls and to correct the same. The Apex Court heard the matter at length and directed the ECP to carryout proper and complete door-to-door verification in Karachi so as to ensure that no voter is disenfranchised or dislocated and all other discrepancies are rectified as early as possible. To comply with the aforesaid direction of the Apex Court, the ECP carried out door to door verification of electoral rolls in Karachi Division while the security was provided by the Pakistan Army. The electoral rolls so revised and updated were provided for conduct of general election 2013.

11. In order to enhance the credibility of Electoral Rolls, for the first time in the history of electoral rolls in Pakistan, ECP introduced Electoral Rolls with photographs and a space to affix thumb impression of voters before casting their vote. Electoral Rolls with photographs for 139,925 Census Blocks / Electoral Areas were prepared/ printed and used in general elections 2013. In addition to above, voting details of a voter and location of polling stations were also provided on 8300-SMS to assist the voters to identify/locate their polling stations. These steps not only helped the Presiding Officers at polling stations to identify the voters during the polling process but also helped the voters to locate their polling stations through SMS service. The above efforts and initiatives of ECP resulted into 53.62 percent voters' turnout in the general elections 2013.

Electoral Rolls' Statistics

12. The statistics of FER-2012 used in general elections 2013 are as under:

Province / Area	Male	Female	Total

14. In recognition of innovative use of technology (i.e. 8300 SMS Service) for the Electoral Process, International Centre for Parliamentary Studies gave the ECP an International Award at the International Electoral Awards 2013 held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia on 4th December, 2013.

CHAPTER-V

DELIMITATION OF CONSTITUENCIES

Legal Framework

The legal framework for carrying out the delimitation of constituencies for elections to the National Assembly and to each Provincial Assembly is as under:

- a. The Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan;
 - b. The Delimitation of Constituencies Act, 1974.
2. Clause (6)(a) of Article 51 read with clause (3)(a) of Article 106 of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan envisage that for the purpose of election to the National Assembly and to each Provincial Assembly, the constituencies for the general seats shall be single member territorial constituencies and the members to fill such seats shall be elected by direct and free vote. Clause (3) of Article 51 provides that the seats in the National Assembly shall be allocated to each Province, the Federally Administered Tribal Areas (FATA) and the Federal Capital as specified therein. The pre-requisite for such allocation of seats has been provided in clause (5) thereof, which ordains that the seats in the National Assembly shall be allocated to each Province, the FATA and the Federal Capital on the basis of population in accordance with the last preceding census officially published. The term “population” has been defined in the Delimitation of the Constituencies Act, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), according to which the “population” means the population in accordance with the last preceding census officially published. As per section 7 of the Act, inter alia, before General Elections in the country in 2002, the general seats (272 seats) in the National Assembly for each Province, the FATA and Federal Capital were reallocated on the basis of population in accordance with the last preceding census held in 1998. It was thereafter that the ECP carried out the exercise of delimitation of constituencies in that year.
3. Under Article 106(1) of the Constitution, the number of general seats in each Provincial Assembly has been specified. In case of women and Non-Muslims, the seats in National Assembly as well as in each Provincial Assembly have also been fixed, for which no delimitation exercise is required to be carried out as these seats are filled through proportional representation system of political parties’ lists of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats secured by each political party from the Province concerned in the National Assembly. The number of general seats in National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies allocated to the Provinces/Areas under the Constitution are as under:-

Province/Area	General Seats in National Assembly	General Seats in Provincial Assemblies
Balochistan	14	51
Khyber Pakhtunkhwa	35	99
Punjab	148	297
Sindh	61	130
FATAs	12	-
Federal Capital	2	-
Total	272	577

4. Section 3 of the Act provides that the Commission shall delimit territorial constituencies for elections to the National Assembly and to each Provincial Assembly in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and the Act. As the two pre-requisites namely the publication of official report of 1998 population census and the consequent reallocation of seats in the National Assembly for each Province, the FATA and the Federal Capital had been fulfilled, the Commission carried out the exercise of delimitation of constituencies to fill the general seats in the National Assembly and in each Provincial Assembly in 2002 in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and the Act.

Principles of Delimitation

5. Section 9 of the Act lays down the principles of delimitation, which read as under:

"(1) All constituencies for general seats shall, as far as practicable, be delimited having regard to the distribution of population geographically compact areas, existing boundaries of administrative units, facilities of communication and public convenience and other cognate factors to ensure homogeneity in the creation of constituencies:

Provided that for the purpose of delimiting constituencies for the general seats for Federally Administered Tribal Areas two or more separate areas may be grouped into one constituency.

(2) As far as may be the constituencies for election to the same Assembly shall be equal among themselves in population⁷.”

Procedure for carrying out Delimitation

6. For the purpose of delimiting constituencies for elections to fill general seats in the National Assembly and in the Provincial Assemblies, the following procedure has been laid down under Section 10 of the Act:

"10. Reports of Commission and list of constituencies.— (1) For the purpose of delimiting constituencies, the Commission may receive and consider representations, hold inquiries, summon witnesses and record evidence and shall prepare and publish in the Official Gazette a preliminary report and list of constituencies specifying the areas proposed to be included in each constituency.”

“(2) Any person entitled to vote at any election to the National Assembly or a Provincial Assembly may, within fifteen days of the publication of the report under sub-section (1), make a representation to the Commission in respect of the delimitation of constituencies.”

“(3) The Commission shall, after hearing and considering the representation, if any received by it, make such amendments, alterations or modifications, in the preliminary list published under sub-section (1) as it thinks fit or necessary, and shall publish in the Official gazette the final report and list of constituencies showing the areas included in each constituency.”

Delimitation for General Elections 2013

7. As elaborated in the preceding paragraphs, the constituencies for elections to fill general seats in the National and Provincial Assemblies were delimited in 2002 on the basis of the population officially published in accordance with the last preceding census held in 1998. Since next population census which was due in 2008 could not be held, therefore, no change was made in the existing limits of the constituencies. However, as a number of administrative changes were made by the Provincial Governments and the Population Census Organization had also re-demarcated the Census Charges, Circles and Blocks in urban areas, thereby increasing inter alia the number of census blocks from 1,02,303 to 139,925 the Commission re-described the areas falling in each constituency of National/Provincial Assemblies in accordance with the changes in revenue units and the new scheme of Census Charges, Circles and Blocks and such re-description was notified in the official Gazette on 08th March, 2013.

⁷Section 9 of the Delimitation of the Constituencies Act, 1974.

Delimitation in Karachi

8. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of Pakistan, after hearing the parties at length in Constitutional Petition No 16/2010 filed by Watan Party, delivered a detailed judgment, wherein, inter alia, it was observed as under:

¹¹ “.....to avoid political polarization and to break the cycle of ethnic strife and turf war, boundaries of administrative units like police stations, revenue estates, etc. ought to be altered so that the members of different communities may live together in peace and harmony, instead of allowing various groups to claim that particular areas belong to them and declaring certain areas as No-Go Areas under their fearful influence. Subsequent thereto, on similar consideration, in view of relevant laws, delimitation of different constituencies has also to be undertaken with the same object and purpose, particularly to make Karachi which is the hub of economic and commercial activities and also the face of Pakistan, a peaceful city in the near future. The Election Commission of Pakistan may also initiate the process on its own in this behalf”

9. The Government of Sindh was required to bring changes in the boundaries of the districts of Karachi by altering administrative units like police stations, revenue estates, etc. so that the members of different communities may live together in peace and harmony. The various meetings were held by the Secretary Election Commission with the Provincial Government in this regard requesting them to alter the boundaries in compliance with the orders of the Hon'ble Court. But the Provincial Government only altered the boundaries of some police stations and did not make any change in revenue estates of Karachi districts and the boundaries remained the same. A meeting was also held with the Provincial government and representatives of political parties at

Karachi. Objections and suggestions were sought from them with regard to the existing delimitation of constituencies in Karachi districts enabling the ECP to consider any alteration and modifications in the constituencies in order to comply with the directions of the Apex Court contained in the aforementioned Judgment. MQM, strongly opposed any changes and submitted more than 2000 applications through public/voters that such changes should be made only after fresh population census report is officially published, as prescribed under the law. However, the following four political parties submitted their proposals:

- i. Jamaat-e-Islami
- ii. Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz)
- iii. Pashtunkhwa Milli Awami Party
- iv. Sindh United Party

10. The above mentioned parties suggested changes in the delimitation of 20 National Assembly constituencies and 42 Provincial Assembly constituencies of Karachi. To examine these proposals, a committee was constituted by the Commission. The Committee scrutinized the proposals received from political parties in detail and found that the proposals regarding 20 constituencies of National Assembly and 31 of Provincial Assembly were made in contravention of Section 9 of the Act. The proposals in respect of 4 National and 11 Provincial Assembly constituencies being in order were considered by the Committee and it selected the following 3 National Assembly Constituencies and 8 Provincial Assembly constituencies, where according to its view improvement could be made by making alterations in the existing boundaries thereof:

S. No.	National Assembly	S.No.	Provincial Assembly
1	NA-239 Karachi-I	1	PS-89 Karachi-I
2	NA-250 Karachi-XII	2	PS-112 Karachi-XXIV
3	NA-254 Karachi-XVI	3	PS-113 Karachi-XXV
		4	PS-114 Karachi-XXVI
		5	PS-115 Karachi-XXVII
		6	PS-116 Karachi-XXVIII
		7	PS-118 Karachi-XXX
		8	PS-124 Karachi-XXXVI

11. Thus, in light of the report submitted by the Committee on 11th March, 2013, the Commission, in exercise of its powers conferred by section 10A of the Act and in partial modification of Commission's earlier notifications dated 28th June, 2002, 9th June, 2007 and 08th March, 2013, approved the changes proposed by the Committee and the same were notified in the official gazette on 22nd March, 2013, as a result whereof the aforesaid constituencies of Karachi stood delimited to the extent mentioned therein and the elections were held therein accordingly.

CHAPTER-VI
APPOINTMENT OF DISTRICT RETURNING OFFICERS,
RETURNING OFFICERS AND ASSISTANT RETURNING
OFFICERS AND PREPARATION OF POLLING SCHEME

Appointment of DROs, ROs and AROs

For the conduct of General Elections 2013, the ECP, in pursuance of section 7 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976, appointed 126 DROs, and 425 ROs, who were mostly drawn from subordinate judiciary on 5th March, 2013. Likewise, 709 AROs were also appointed to assist the ROs in the performance of their functions. The detail of these appointments is as under:

Province/Area	DROs	ROs	AROs
Balochistan	30	65	100
Khyber Pakhtunkhwa	24	133	145
Punjab	36	149	307
Sindh	27	64	130
FATAs	8	12	23
Federal Capital	1	2	4
Total	126	425	709

Telecommunication facilities for DROs and ROs

2. The significance of effective telecommunication network in the election process can be gauged from the fact that election is the only public activity that takes place simultaneously country-wide within the time frame of a few hours. The inflow and outflow of information at various levels has to be massive in volume and urgent in nature which has to synchronize within stringent time schedules.

3. In order to achieve the objective of successful conduct of elections and to make it possible that prompt transmission of information takes place, the DROs and ROs were provided with STD telephone and telefax facilities throughout the country. The network proved to be of immense utility from the preliminary stage of submission of nomination forms till communication of final results. Besides, for the purpose of receiving results, a Control Room was established in the ECP Secretariat, Islamabad, from where the entire process was coordinated. National Telecommunication Company Limited extended full cooperation and responded promptly to all the requirements sensing importance of the task assigned to them. The detail of number of telephone lines provided to the DROs and ROs for the purpose is given hereunder:

S.No.	Province	No. of Telephone connection
1	Balochistan	94
2	KPK	175
3	Punjab	185
4	Sindh	90
Total		544

Preparation of Polling Scheme

4. Polling stations are an essential element of an electoral process. They are the sites where voting takes place and where votes are counted by the election administration. In order to provide optimum facility to voters to exercise their right of vote freely and without any problem, a carefully prepared polling scheme plays a key role. Before every general election, the polling scheme is reviewed, necessary changes are made and condition of buildings proposed for establishing polling stations are physically checked by the respective ROs. If required, polling stations are also increased to ensure impartiality and credibility in the polling process. For general elections 2008, ECP had established 63,645 polling stations with 1,69,213 polling booths whereas for instant general elections, 69,801 polling stations with 1,93,459 polling booths were setup.

5. A polling scheme has two main components:

- i. The list of polling stations, specifying number of voters, location of each polling station with number of polling booths to be setup on the basis of number of voters assigned to each polling station; and
- ii. The list of polling personnel giving names and designations of polling staff to be deployed at each polling station in a constituency.

Legal Provisions

6. For any transparent electoral process, the support of legal framework is sine qua non. It is responsibility of the RO of each constituency to prepare list of polling stations and submit it to the concerned DRO for his approval and for publishing it in the official gazette for information of general public/voters.⁸ The polling stations may be setup only in government owned buildings such as schools, colleges, offices, community centers, union council offices etc. The buildings of autonomous bodies, semi-autonomous bodies and corporations can also be utilized for the purpose. In urban areas, separate polling stations for female voters are proposed only if male and female polling stations can be accommodated in one and the same building. If it is not possible then combined polling stations may be suggested with exclusive polling booths for female voters manned by female polling staff. The selection of buildings for the polling stations is required to be made with utmost care.

General Instructions for Preparation of Polling Stations

7. The ECP, therefore, issued following guidelines for the establishment of polling stations by the ROs:

- i. On receipt of draft lists of polling stations from the DEC, each RO will physically verify each and every polling station in the constituency or constituencies of his jurisdiction and may make such alterations in that list as he may deem necessary and publish the same within a period of fifteen days inviting objections from the voters of that constituency to be filed with the DRO within a period of ten days of the publication of draft list.
- ii. The DRO after due notice to the objectors and after making such inquiry as he may deem fit shall decide such objections within a period of seven days.
- iii. A final list of polling stations specifying the electoral area, the electors whereof will be entitled to vote shall be published in the official gazette by the DRO at least fifteen days before the polling day after making necessary changes therein in the light of decisions made by him on the objections.
- iv. The RO shall establish in each constituency polling stations according to the final list published in the official gazette by the DRO.

⁸ Section 8 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976

- v. The lists of polling stations shall be prepared constituency-wise.
- vi. The polling stations may cater for up to 2000 voters but they should not normally exceed 2500 voters.
- vii. If there are 2500 voters in a village, only one polling station with 3 or 4 booths may be established.
- viii. If there are more than 200/300 voters in any remote area/village and they are 10-15 km away from the main polling station, then a new polling station shall be established for the convenience of voters.
- ix. The number of polling booths may be determined keeping in view the number of voters assigned to a polling station, e.g., one, two, three. The number of booths shall not exceed four.
- x. While preparing list of polling stations, the convenience of voters and suitability of buildings may be kept in view. In any case it should be easily accessible to the voters.
- xi. The selection of buildings of the polling stations may be made with utmost care. Where more than one building is available, the spacious and centrally located building should be selected as a polling station keeping in view the convenience of the voters.
- xii. It may be ensured that no electoral area is left out and the proposed polling stations are within the extent of each constituency as finally notified by the ECP.
- xiii. No polling station would be housed in a building, which is owned by or is in possession of any individual. It would be illegal to locate the polling station in a building, which is owned by or is under the influence of a prospective candidate. The polling station building would be such as is acceptable to all the candidates. In no case would a police station building be utilized for this purpose.
- xiv. The public buildings should not be in a dilapidated condition or in a state of disrepair. Wherever new buildings have sprung up, they would be utilized, if found suitable.

- xv. In case the polling station building has more than one story, the polling station should preferably be located on ground floor to avoid inconvenience to the voters.
- xvi. In making arrangements for a combined polling station, it has to be ensured that female voters of a particular electoral area are assigned to the same polling station to which their men-folk have been assigned, but separate female and male entrances and separate booths for male and female voters should be arranged.
- xvii. In the selection of buildings, the tribal affiliations and tribal feuds have to be kept in view so that voters of a tribe have not to go to the territory of a tribe hostile to them. The over-looking of this factor can create law and order situation. It can also lead to disenfranchisement of a particular section of voters.
- xviii. Provision of more than one booth in a room of ordinary size has to be avoided. In unavoidable circumstances, however, the room should be partitioned to provide separate booths for male and female voters.
- xix. Improvisation of polling stations has to be avoided in the interest of economy. Improvised polling stations would be setup under unavoidable circumstances only and those too at places where absolutely no public buildings are available.

8. In addition to above, the direction contained in paragraph 81(e) of the Judgment dated 08.06.2012 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Constitution Petition No.87 of 2011 (Workers' Party Pakistan etc. v. Federation of Pakistan, etc.) reproduced below, was instructed to be implemented where possible, while preparing the polling scheme:

“(e) To facilitate the voters, the numbers of polling stations may be increased appropriately throughout the country so that the polling stations are not at a distance of more than two Kilometers from the residence of voters....”

General Instructions for Appointment of Polling Personnel

9. The polling staff is the key to the proper conduct of voting and counting processes. They organize and supervise the voting process, count the ballots and prepare the required statements/documents at the close of the poll. Their role in the election process demands that their selection is done with utmost care and keeping in view elements of efficiency and neutrality. The ECP, therefore, issued the following guidelines to DROs and ROs for selection and appointment of polling personnel:

- i. Utmost care should be exercised in the selection of polling staff. There will be a Presiding Officer for each polling station, and Two Assistant Presiding Officers and a Polling Officer for each booth at a polling station.
- ii. As far as possible, the Presiding Officer be appointed from amongst the officers of the Federal Government.
- iii. Female polling staff may be selected for exclusive female polling stations as well as female Polling Booths at combined polling stations. In case of rural areas where female staff is not available, the booth may be manned by some elderly male member with at least one female Polling Officer or Assistant Presiding Officer at each booth, meant for female voters.
- iv. Where a female Presiding Officer has been appointed for a polling station, a Naib Quasid will also be deputed with her to facilitate taking over of election material, carrying of ballot boxes and other similar jobs.
- v. The Presiding Officers should be in BPS-17 and above and they should be able to command respect and inspire public confidence.
- vi. The Assistant Presiding Officers may be drawn from amongst officials working in BPS-11 and above. The Assistant Presiding Officer shall take over the functions of Presiding Officer, if required.
- vii. The Polling Officers should be the officials working in BPS-5 and above.

- viii. Such officers as are likely to retire by the time elections are held or likely to go abroad, should not be included in the list of Polling Personnel.
- ix. The Polling Personnel should be men of integrity and should be drawn from the Departments of Federal and Provincial Governments, Autonomous Bodies, Semi-Autonomous Bodies and Corporations.
- x. 5% reserve polling staff should be earmarked for each category in the constituency.
- xi. It is advisable to issue appointment orders of the polling staff sufficiently in advance of the date of the poll in order to avoid any delay in the matter.

Physical Verification of Polling Sites

10. The enormous task of preparation of draft polling scheme was basically carried out by the DEC's in the districts. The ROs were responsible under the law to submit the lists of polling stations to their respective DRO after inspection of polling sites personally for ensuring the suitability/availability of polling station buildings. The DRO could make changes wherever considered necessary for the sake of convenience of public. In a few exceptional cases, changes in polling sites were allowed by the Election Commission after the same were notified in the official gazette. The lists of polling stations were also put on the website of the ECP for convenience of the contestants and general public. In addition to above, as stated earlier, a voter was also provided with the facility of obtaining required information as to the location of the polling station where he/she has been assigned to cast his or her vote; the serial number at which his or her vote is enrolled in the electoral roll, etc. by sending his/her NIC number on SMS "8300".

11. For the conduct of elections to 272 general seats in the National Assembly and 577 general seats of Provincial Assemblies, in all 69,801 polling stations with 193,459 polling booths were established. The Province/Area-wise detail is given below:-

Training of Polling Personnel

15. To facilitate proper operation of a polling station, it is imperative that polling personnel clearly understand what they may and may not do. Unless they fully grasp the details of polling procedures, they cannot manage the polling station effectively and to the satisfaction of all stakeholders. Keeping in view the importance of training and skills required for increasing efficiency of polling personnel, the Election Commission had arranged training sessions for them in collaboration with the International Foundation for Electoral Systems (IFES) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). Training of more than 644,000 officials was a colossal job and no single organization could undertake this exercise in short time available for the purpose. Therefore, the Election Commission sought assistance of IFES and UNDP, who have expertise in this field. IFES was responsible for conducting trainings for District Returning Officers and the Returning Officers across the country in addition to trainings of the polling personnel in Sindh, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Balochistan Provinces and in the Federally Administered Tribal Areas (FATAs). UNDP conducted trainings of the polling personnel in the Punjab and in the Federal Capital. These organizations developed user friendly handbooks and manuals for trainings and implemented training plans effectively within the timeframe available in this behalf.

CHAPTER-VIII

SCRUTINY OF NOMINATION PAPERS AND DISPOSAL OF APPEALS

It is essential for a candidate contesting election to an Assembly that he or she is qualified in terms of Article 62 of the Constitution and does not suffer from any of the disqualifications laid down in Article 63 thereof (both Articles to be read with Article 113). Therefore, scrutiny of nomination papers filed by the candidates is most crucial function of the RO who while adhering to the timeline announced by the ECP for scrutiny of nomination papers is supposed to ensure that only those candidates are allowed to contest election who meet the requirements of the Constitution and the law.

2. The procedure for scrutinizing the nomination papers has been provided in section 14 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 and the RO is required to scrutinize all nomination papers delivered to him in light of the provisions of this section and all other relevant provisions in the Constitution and the law. In General Election 2013, the ROs carried out scrutiny of the nomination papers from 01-04-2013 to 07-04-2013 (both days inclusive) in accordance with the laid down procedure in the presence of candidates, their proposers, seconders, election agents and other authorized persons. The decisions regarding acceptance or rejection of nomination papers were recorded on each nomination paper by the ROs, briefly stating the reasons in case of rejection thereof. As provided by law, the nomination paper of a candidate was liable to be rejected by the RO on the following grounds:

- a. candidate was not qualified to be elected as member under the Constitution and law;
- b. proposer or seconder was not qualified to subscribe to the nomination paper of the candidate;
- c. there was non-compliance of the provisions of section 12 (nomination for election) or section 13 (deposits) of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 or any false or incorrect declaration or statement in any material particular was submitted;
- d. signature of the proposer or seconder was not genuine.

Scrutiny Cell

3. Scrutiny of nomination papers is legal responsibility of the ROs but the time available for the purpose is too short for them to cross check veracity of contents of nomination papers. The ECP, therefore, decided to facilitate them in carrying out the scrutiny of nomination papers in an efficient and meaningful manner. For this purpose, a Scrutiny Cell was established in the ECP Secretariat to facilitate ROs by providing them necessary information about candidates with the technical assistance of NADRA, State Bank of Pakistan (SBP), National Accountability Bureau (NAB) and Federal Board of Revenue (FBR). An automated system was introduced for the first time to gather data (NIC Number, Name, Constituency Number) of each and every contesting candidate from the ROs and share it with NADRA, FBR, SBP and NAB for cross checking facts about default in payment of loans or taxes, if any or otherwise by the candidates or their disqualification. All these organizations furnished the requisite information on prescribed format which was immediately sent back electronically to the concerned RO. The representatives of NADRA, FBR, NAB and SBP were also present to monitor the data connectivity between the respective organization and the ECP. This fully automated computerized system was functional with 100% successful results, as no human interaction was involved which could affect or change the results received from these organizations. It is also worth mentioning that the ECP had only 7 days to perform this huge task concerning about 26,000 candidates. The reports of all the contesting candidates received from aforesaid organizations were also placed on ECP's website for transparency purposes on real-time basis. These efforts of ECP were also appreciated by Lahore High Court in one of its judgment.

The appeals so filed were required to be decided summarily within the specified time and the orders passed thereon were final. Additionally, the Tribunal was given suo moto powers to call upon a candidate whose nomination paper was accepted by the RO concerned to show cause why his nomination paper should not be rejected on the basis of information or material coming to the knowledge of the Tribunal from any source that such candidate was a defaulter of loan, taxes, Government dues or utility charges or had any loan written off or suffered from any other disqualification from being elected as member of an Assembly. CHAPTER-IX

WITHDRAWAL, RETIREMENT, TERMINATION OF PROCEEDINGS AND CONTESTING CANDIDATES

As election schedule is announced, a large number of prospective candidates throng offices of the Returning Officers to file nomination papers for the purpose of contesting election to a National or a Provincial Assembly seat. But not all of them make to the final contest. Some of them realize that chances of their winning the election are not bright, so think it wiser to withdraw from the contest. There are others who may fail to win party nomination so they have no option but to withdraw from the contest. Therefore, the real picture as to final contestants in each constituency emerges only after the withdrawals and retirements by the validly nominated candidates.

Legal Provisions regarding withdrawal of Candidature

2. It has been laid down in section 16 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 that a validly nominated candidate may withdraw his candidature to an election on or before the withdrawal date fixed by the Election Commission. The notice for the withdrawal should be in writing, signed by the candidate and delivered to the Returning Officer either by the candidate himself or an advocate authorized by him in writing. Such authorization is required to be attested by a competent authority, such as, an Oath Commissioner or Notary Public. A notice of withdrawal, under no circumstances, can be recalled or cancelled. On receipt of notice of withdrawal, the Returning Officer has to satisfy himself regarding genuineness of the signature of the candidate and then affix a copy thereof at some conspicuous place in his office.

5. The law provides yet another opportunity for such candidates, who, for some reasons, want to leave electoral arena before the polling day. A contesting candidate may retire from the contest on any day not later than four days before the day of the poll. The retirement notice should be signed by the concerned candidate and handed over to the Returning Officer either in person or by an agent duly authorized by the retiring candidate. The retirement notice once handed over to the RO cannot be recalled or cancelled. The RO, under the law, is required to cause a copy of the notice to be affixed at some conspicuous place in his office and also publish the same in the manner as he may think fit. A person in whose respect a retirement notice has been published is deemed to have withdrawn from the contest in terms of section 16 of the Representation of People Act, 1976. CHAPTER-X

POLITICAL PARTIES

A political party has been defined in the law as “an association of citizens or a combination or a group of such associations formed with a view to propagating or influencing political opinion and participating in election for any elective public office or for membership of a legislative body”. The fact is that for the successful running of parliamentary form of government, the political parties are sine qua non for playing a pivotal role in fostering a constitutional and democratic political culture.

2. Political parties are often described as institutionalized mediators between civil society and those who decide and implement decisions. As such, they enable their members’ and supporters’ demands to be addressed in the Parliament and in government. However, in order to perform these tasks and functions, political parties and citizens need some rights and obligations guaranteed or ruled by the Constitution or the law. Article 17 of the Constitution guarantees freedom of association for all citizens subject, of course, to such reasonable restrictions as may be imposed by law.

3. For regulating the activities of political parties and for facilitating their participation in the General Elections in a more organized and democratic manner, the Political Parties Order, 2002 was promulgated on 28th June, 2002. In pursuance of Article 19 of that Order, the Election Commission with the approval of the President made the Political Parties Rules, 2002, which were published and notified in the official Gazette on 23rd July, 2002.

Salient features of the Political Parties Order, 2002

4. The Political Parties Order, 2002 replaced the Political Parties Act, 1962. The said Act was amended in 1979 through an Ordinance providing thereby that political parties will be registered with the Election Commission. The Ordinance was challenged in the Supreme Court, which declared it to be violative of the Constitutional provisions. The Political Parties Order, 2002, therefore, does not provide for registration of political parties. However, it does provide a mechanism to regulate certain activities of the political parties. According to that Order, each political party is required to have a distinct name and a constitution giving details of party’s aims and objectives, its organizational structure, criteria for membership of party, etc. A copy of party constitution is required to be provided to the Election Commission. The political parties are required to hold their intra-party elections regularly in accordance with their party constitution. Parties have also to submit to the Election Commission, a consolidated statement of their accounts, duly audited by a Chartered Accountant, within sixty days from close of a financial year in which they have also to indicate sources of their funds as under the law no foreign-aided political party can be established. An election symbol for contesting an election can be allocated to only such political party, which provides certification about intra-party election and statement of accounts, duly verified by a Chartered Accountant, to the Election Commission under the said Order.

CHAPTER-XI

ALLOCATION OF SYMBOLS

In countries with low literacy rate it becomes imperative that some mechanism is devised to facilitate illiterate electors in marking the ballot for the candidate of their choice. An election symbol is such a universally accepted tool which helps the electors in identifying their candidates and in marking the ballot without any difficulty. The candidates also find it convenient to reach out to the electorate during campaign period by using election symbol allotted to them. Thus the process of allocation of election symbols to political parties and the candidates becomes critical in an election.

Legal framework

2. After the date fixed for withdrawal of candidature is over, the Returning Officer draws list of contesting candidates in Urdu alphabetical order and allots to each of the contesting candidate one of the election symbols, as prescribed in the Representation of People (Conduct of Election) Rules, 1977¹². The procedure for allocation of election symbols to political parties and candidates is provided in the Allocation of Symbols Order, 2002. There are as many as 193 symbols prescribed under the rules. The Returning Officers allot party symbols as allocated by Election Commission, to the candidates fielded by political parties. The independent candidates have a choice to select an election symbol from among the election symbols which have not been allocated to any political party.

Eligibility of political parties to obtain Election Symbol

3. A political party is eligible to obtain an election symbol for its candidates to contest elections for the National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies on submission of certificate and statement to the Election Commission as envisaged in Articles 12 and 13 of the Political Parties Order, 2002.¹³ Under Article 12, a political party has to submit a certificate to the Election Commission about intra-party elections within seven days of such elections. Article 13 provides that political parties shall have to submit to the Election Commission annual consolidated statement of accounts of the party, duly audited by a Chartered Accountant, within 60 days of ¹² Section 21 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976.

¹³ Article 14 of the Political Parties Order, 2002.

the close of a financial year. The submission of above mentioned certificate and statement are basic criteria for allotment of election symbols to political parties. A combination of political parties is also entitled to obtain a common election symbol for that election only if, each party constituting such combination, has submitted the certificate and statement required to be filed with Election Commission.

Processing of applications for allocation of symbols

4. The Election Commission through a Press Release issued on 5th March, 2013 invited applications for allocation of symbols from such political parties, which met criteria for allocation of Election Symbols provided in the Political Parties Order, 2002. The applications were required to reach the Secretary, Election Commission on or before 15th March, 2013. In response thereof 149 political parties submitted their applications for allocation of symbols for General Election 2013.

Allocation of Symbols to Political Parties

5. The Election Commission held a meeting on 19th March, 2013 for allocation of symbols to the political parties for General Elections, 2013. The Commission heard the authorized representatives/party leaders of the political parties present before it at length for ascertaining their options/preferences for allotment of symbols and allotted election symbols to the following political parties as mentioned against the name of each political party.

CHAPTER-XII

ELECTION MATERIAL

One of the basic requirements for successful completion of an election process is timely procurement and supply of material required for conduct of elections. It is a huge exercise and has to be done in an organized manner. Election material, inter alia, includes printing of large quantity of ballot papers, forms, posters, placards, envelopes, duty badges and other documents as well as ballot boxes, voting screens, cloth bags, plastic seals, stamps of different kinds, stamp pads and indelible ink etc. The procurement of election material is a multi-stage process. First step is stock-taking of the available inventory stored at Provincial, Divisional and District level. The initial stock-taking helps in evaluating the precise requirement of each district, division and province on the basis of prescribed scale for each item of election material. This evaluation constitutes basis for procurement of whole range of election material as well as arranging financial resources through additional allocation of budget. Second step is placing procurement orders with specialized Firms/Government Agencies by calling tenders through press from the open market. Final procurement order is placed after thorough quality check and ensuring that supply contracts are awarded through the process of fair competition and in accordance with PPRA rules.

2. After procurement of election material, the most laborious and complex stage is dispatch from procuring agencies to ECP offices throughout the country. The whole exercise is a race against time that involves extensive transportation from the successful Bidders/Firms and Government Presses to the far-flung districts particularly of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Balochistan.

3. For the conduct of general elections 2013, ECP mobilized all available resources for procurement of election material keeping in view the timelines of its election programme. The process of competitive bidding was carried out adopting all procedures and formalities prescribed under the PPRA Rules.

Indelible Ink

4. It is legal requirement that an elector, at the time of casting his vote, receives a personal mark of identification with indelible ink on his thumb/finger¹⁴. Indelible Ink is a specialized product of Pakistan Council for Scientific and Industrial Research Laboratories (PCSIR), Karachi, manufactured exclusively for election purposes. Excluding the available stock, 461,170 vials of indelible ink @ Rs.155/- per vial (excluding packing charges) were got manufactured for the GE-2013. The ink was supplied to the polling stations, at a scale of one vial per polling booth plus two vials reserved for each polling station. Province-wise detail of indelible ink is as under:

Voting Screens

14. For the conduct of 2013 General Elections, 242,112 voting screens were available with the PECs, whereas to cater the actual requirement of 278,465 voting screens, 46,500 voting screens were procured through open tender. Hence after fulfilling all the codal formalities, required voting screens were successfully supplied to the PECs well before the Elections, 2013.

Plastic Seals

15. About 3,598,034 plastic seals were available with all the PECs. The actual requirement for general elections, 2013 and upcoming local government elections was 5,137,725. Thus the difference was 1,539,691. In view of this position and considering the future bye-elections, the Purchase Committee recommended the procurement of 3,100,000 plastic seals which were accordingly procured through open tender and were supplied to the PECs according to their requirement.

Transportation of Election Material

16. Transportation Plan for election material was chalked out taking into account time factor and maximum economy in expenditure. The whole quantity of election material was transported from successful Bidders/Firms. Priority was given to the remote areas of Balochistan and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa so as to ensure delivery of the material in time. The dispatch process for the whole country was completed well before the time for preparation of polling bags by the ROs.

Printed Material

17. For conduct of elections a wide range of printed material is required. Huge printing is undertaken by the Commission to make available all the printed material prescribed for the conduct of general elections as also otherwise required to be printed for the purpose. The printed material includes forms, registers, envelopes, posters, etc. In addition, various kinds of manuals, booklets and instructions are also printed for the guidance of DROs/ROs and polling personnel. Most of the printed material is printed afresh for the conduct of general elections after updating it by incorporating therein all changes required to be made due to amendments in the law/rules made since last such election.

18. Well before issuance of election programme for general elections 2013, the requirement of requisite forms, registers, envelopes, manuals, posters, codes of conduct, duty badges and entry passes etc. was evaluated in all the provinces in the light of enhanced number of polling stations/booths. Having estimated the precise quantity and cost of the printed material, the printed job was assigned to Printing Corporation of Pakistan presses (PCP) at Islamabad, Lahore and Karachi. The job was carried out according to the schedule and supplied to all concerned by adopting centrally devised dispatch plan.

Forms

19. Thirty-five different kinds of Forms were used during the elections under report. These forms were used for stage-wise documentation, from nominations of candidates to the compilation of final result by the ROs. The detail of Forms etc. used during General Elections, 2013 is given below:

CHAPTER-XIII

PRINTING OF BALLOT PAPERS

Preliminary

Printing of ballot papers is yet another critical task in the process of elections. In printing of ballot papers, adherence to timeframe, secrecy and accuracy are key elements which need to be taken care of. Any laxity or delay can mar the whole election exercise. The arrangements are undertaken on the basis of overall estimation of quantity of ballot papers in each constituency and a carefully prepared printing plan in consultation with the authorities of printing presses. Each PEC evaluates the actual requirement of his province. Time limitation is the most sensitive factor in the process of printing of ballot papers. The printing job is entrusted only to the Government owned presses having infrastructure, resources and capability of completing the job within the stipulated schedule.

2. After several meetings and after assessing actual requirement of ballot papers, the printing job was assigned to the PCP Press whose printing facilities are located at Islamabad, Lahore and Karachi and Pakistan Security Printing Corporation Press (PSPC), Karachi as per details given below:-

Sr.No.	Name of Press	Printing of Ballot Papers in respect of:
1	PCP Press, Islamabad.	Khyber Pakhtunkhwa.
		FATA
		Federal Capital
		Sargodha Division (partly)
		Rawalpindi Division
		Okara District
2	PCP Press, Lahore.	Gujranwala Division
		Lahore Division
3	PCP Press, Karachi.	D.G Khan Division
		Faisalabad Division
		Sargodha Division (partly)
4	PSPC Press, Karachi.	Sindh Province
		Balochistan Province
		Bahawalpur Division
		Multan Division
		Sahiwal Division (excluding Okara District)

Measures adopted for Ballot Papers' Printing

3. Printing of ballot papers is very sensitive activity and utmost care has to be taken to ensure that ballot papers of each constituency of National and Provincial Assemblies are printed in requisite quantity according to Form-V provided by the ROs and that after printing is over, they reach their respective destinations well in time safely and securely. To meet this requirement, the following measures were taken for printing of ballot papers:

- a. Sufficient funds were provided to the Presses as mobilization advance for procurement of raw material and paper;
- b. Fool-proof security arrangements were made at all the presses to guard against pilferage or manipulation. For this purpose Army was deployed at the Printing Presses and entry of unauthorized persons was strictly prohibited;
- c. WAPDA and KESC were requested to ensure round the clock power supply to the Presses lest the printing of ballot papers may be delayed due to the power breakdown and/or load shedding.
- d. To face inevitable circumstances of power supply, stand-by generators were also provided by the WAPDA and KESC at the Printing Presses;
- e. A team of the officers of Election Commission of Pakistan and Provincial Election Commissioners was deputed at each printing press to supervise the printing of ballot papers according to the approved standard sample and time schedule;
- f. Exclusive telecommunication facilities were provided to the supervising teams at all the presses to ensure their close liaison with Election Commission headquarters; and
- g. Army contingents were deputed at the presses to beef-up existing security arrangements.

Quantity of ballot papers

4. The ballot papers were printed at supply scale of two ballot papers for each registered voter at polling station, one for National and the other for Provincial Assembly Elections. The requirement was assessed on the basis of actual strength of registered voters in the constituency. Accordingly, the Province/ Press-wise quantity of ballot papers is given hereunder:-

Province/Area	Number of Ballots		Name of Press where printed
	National Assembly	Provincial Assembly
Federal Capital	684,200	-	PCP Islamabad
Punjab	16,364,000	16,912,600	PCP Islamabad
	15,395,300	15,801,800	PCP Karachi
	9,034,400	7,778,500	PCP Lahore
	12,910,800	13,005,500	PSPC Karachi
Sindh	19,495,000	19,781,400	PSPC Karachi
KPK/FATA	14,481,000	12,706,800	PCP Islamabad
Balochistan	3,720,300	3,671,400	PSPC Karachi
Total:	92,085,000	89,658,000	-
Grand Total	181,743,000		-

Packing and dispatch of Ballot Papers

5. After printing of ballot papers simultaneously for National and Provincial Assemblies in all the presses, next important step was their packing and dispatch to all districts and FATAs. The DROs and ROs were asked to depute their authorized representatives for taking the delivery of ballot papers. The packing was undertaken in the presence of their authorized representatives and under the supervision of the officers of ECP. The ballot papers were packed constituency-wise in corrugated boxes wrapped in waterproof bags.

6. Private trucks were hired for the purpose of transportation after considering all other options, which were time effective and more economical. Each vehicle was dispatched under the security/supervision of Army and Police escort right from the Printing Press to the respective district headquarters. The representatives of District Returning Officers also accompanied the consignment.

Airlifting of Ballot Papers

7. Due to law and order situation in Balochistan province and in order to ensure timely transportation of ballot papers to remote destinations, the Ministry of Defence was requested to provide services of C-130 Aircrafts and MI-17 Helicopters for transportation of ballot papers in the entire Balochistan, some districts of Punjab, Sindh, KPK and agencies in FATA.

Postal Ballot Papers

8. The law entitles government employees and their eligible family members to cast vote through postal ballot if the employee is posted at a station other than where he/she is enrolled as a voter. Similar facility is available for prisoners and persons lawfully detained¹⁶. The postal ballot paper is quite different from the normal ballot paper. It does not contain name and election symbols of candidates. Instead the elector has to express his/her choice by writing name of the candidate for whom he or she wants to vote. The process of casting vote through postal ballot is time bound, which necessitates separate time schedule to ensure that a vote cast is counted within the stipulated time required for announcement of official result. Besides, due to exclusive pattern of postal ballot paper, the process also requires making of an application by an elector in a specific format whereby he or she expresses his/her intention of casting vote through postal ballot as well as issuance of instructions that guide elector in the course of casting his/her vote in a prescribed manner. The postal ballot paper was printed uniformly for all the constituencies. The province-wise break-up of the quantity of postal ballot papers printed is given below:

Province/Area	National Assembly	Provincial Assemblies
Balochistan	42,000	76,500
Khyber Pakhtunkhwa	141,000	148,500
Punjab	450,000	445,500
Sindh	183,000	195,000
Total	816,000	865,500

Elections around the world involve huge amount of money in one way or the other. While the candidates and political parties may spend millions and, in some cases, even billions on their election campaigns, the Election Management Bodies also require substantial funds to make arrangements for successful completion of election exercise. Pakistan is no exception. Conducting election simultaneously for National Assembly and all the four Provincial Assemblies and enabling over 86 million voters to cast their votes at 69,729 polling stations across the country was a gigantic task which could not have been achieved unless requisite funds were available with the ECP.

2. The ECP Secretariat, in the first instance, assessed the requirement of funds for various stages of elections keeping in view previous experience and newly emerging factors. These funds were required for further dissemination to DROs and ROs and also for procurement of election material, manufacturing of ballot boxes, procurement of indelible ink, printing of ballot papers, printing of forms, envelopes, manuals, posters, badges and also for other multifarious activities related to conduct of elections. Besides, funds were required for setting up telecommunication network, as well as, for transportation of election material, preparation/updating of electoral rolls, voters' education, publicity and training of polling personnel etc. Consequently, estimates of Rs.5,099,962,000/- were prepared keeping in view escalation in prices etc. However, Finance Division provided three Supplementary Grants amounting to Rs.3,981,000,000/- (Rs.2 Billion Technical Supplementary Grant, Rs.718 Million Regular Supplementary Grant and Rs.1.263 Billion Technical Supplementary Grant). Reasons for increase of expenditure on GE-2013

7. The expenditure on General Elections-2013 increased as compared to the General Elections held in 2008 due to many factors including but not limited to the following reasons:

- i) The expenditure increased due to use of C-130 Air Craft and MI-17 Helicopters for lifting of Ballot papers. A sum of Rs.78,038,238/- was paid to Air Headquarters, Ministry of Defence. Airlifting of ballot papers was resorted to due to law and order situation in different areas of Balochistan, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and parts of Sindh and Punjab.
- ii) During the period of five years between the conduct of two elections, the prices of essential items increased manifold.
- iii) After the conduct of General Elections, Bye-Elections were held in 42 National and Provincial Assemblies constituencies in the month of August/ September, 2013, which were almost a mini General Election. It may be pointed out that no additional funds were demanded from Finance Division for this purpose and conduct of Bye-Elections was managed from ECPs Annual Budget Grant 2013-14.
- iv) For the first time 15 Election Tribunals were constituted in all the four provinces (Punjab 5, Sindh 3, KPK 3, Balochistan 4) to decide the election petitions pertaining to General Elections and Bye-Elections. Retired judicial officers were appointed in this regard and they were provided necessary complementary staff. Separate offices were setup for them, along-with other facilities.
- v) In recognition of meritorious services rendered by the judicial officers as DROs/ROs/AROs and their complementary staff (Steno/Assistant, Reader/UDC, Driver, Naib Quasid), ECP granted them honorarium at fixed rate. Besides, honorarium (at fixed rate) was also given to monitoring teams who monitored the campaign activities pertaining to General Elections and data entry operators for compiling election results. Both monitoring teams and data entry operators were employed for the first time for elections. Detail of expenditure may be seen below:

Sl. No	Designation	No. of officers/officials	Rate of Honoraria	Honoraria paid
1	DRO	126	Rs.50,000/-	6300000
2	RO	424	Rs.40,000/-	16960000
3	ARO	760	Rs.25,000/-	19000000
4	Steno/Assistant	902	Rs.12,000/-	10824000
5	Reader/UDC	953	Rs.10,000/-	9530000
6	Driver	921	Rs.8,000/-	7368000
7	Naib Quasid	902	Rs.7,000/-	6314000

9	Data Entry Operator	773	Rs.10,000/-	7730000
Total		6551		99,826,000

8. As may be seen from the table in preceding paragraph, the inflation, taxes and some new requirements made the expenditure higher as compared to 2008 General Elections by more than 155.76%. For comparison sake, overall expenditure incurred in the last two General Elections is given hereunder:

General Election	Total Expenditure	Increase%
2008	Rs.1,849,716,560
2013	Rs.4,730,947,802	255.76%

CHAPTER-XVI

PUBLICITY AND EDUCATION OF VOTERS

Publicity and Education of Voters

For the last so many years, media has galloped from negligible to most effective tool in the affairs of nations and organizations. In existing state of affairs no one can ignore the fast growing importance of media. It played crucial role in entire election process in the country. For effective media management and responsible information sharing, public relation wing is back bone of ECP. During the election 2013 the PR wing played vital role in dissemination of information, education of the voters, clarifications, rebuttals and feedback. Inter alia, this wing performed following activities during general election 2013:

- i. PR Wing arranged more than 100 press briefings, talks, conferences and official coverage of the meetings through print and electronic media.
- ii. Arranged number of interviews of the Secretary, ECP and Additional Secretary, ECP with both print and electronic media on different occasions.
- iii. Issued number of press releases/messages to media on different occasions.
- iv. Arranged and coordinated meetings with the state media organizations like, Press Information Department, Pakistan Television Corporations, Associated Press of Pakistan and Pakistan Broadcasting Corporations. As a result of these efforts all the mentioned government organizations made exclusive arrangements for the election which greatly helped education of the voters.
- v. Established media center and made elaborate and comprehensive arrangements for the Live Coverage of the election results.
- vi. Introduced ECP Newsletter
- vii. Made a special Media Kit for local, international media and International Observers.
- viii. Arrangements for the preparation and issuance of the security cards for the International Observers and International media were made through coordination with Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Foreign Missions

Abroad and Foreign Missions in Pakistan, Ministry of Interior and Ministry of Information (External Publicity Wing.)

- ix. Arranged coordinated briefings for International Observers.

2. The work of PR wing was helpful in enhancing the image of ECP and the country at International level. As a result of excellent arrangements, appreciation letters were received from different world organizations.

Monitoring and Feedback of Media

3. PR Wing successfully:

- i. monitored media especially print media on regular basis;
- ii. prepared and submitted daily press summaries on regular basis to the Hon'ble Commission and Secretary;
- iii. coordinated and arranged different programmes for voter education;
- iv. posted press releases regularly on ECP website;
- v. coordinated efforts for formulation of Code of Conduct for Observers;
- vi. held consultations with all major print and electronic media organizations including Press Council of Pakistan, Press information Department, PTV, BBC, PEMRA, APNS, PBA, SAWN, CPNE and PMUJ etc with a view to develop guidelines for media with their tacit agreement.

Voters' Education

4. PR wing also arranged various meetings for the Voter Education with NGOs, Civil Society Organizations, Government Organizations and Banks etc.

5. The voter education programme was two pronged. On the one hand, ECP adopted conventional methodology of print & electronic media to reach out to the potential voters and on the other, it used some new innovations like SMS 8300 etc.

CHAPTER-XVII

MAINTENANCE OF LAW & ORDER

A democratic election provides equal opportunities to contestants to compete without any fear and a conducive atmosphere for electors to exercise their right to vote without any intimidation or coercion from any quarters. This requires that law and order is maintained properly during the campaign period and on the polling day. In Pakistan, unfortunately, for over a decade the law and order situation has not been ideal. Therefore, extra efforts had to be made to ensure that general elections are held in a peaceful atmosphere.

2. It is now well settled that maintenance of law and order is primarily the responsibility of Provincial Governments. Both the Federal as well as Provincial Governments are obliged under Article 220 of the Constitution to assist the ECP in performance of its functions.¹⁷ Hence, this provision was invoked by the ECP to requisition services of Army and Law Enforcing Agencies for maintaining peaceful atmosphere during elections. The implementation of certain legal provisions also helped ECP in creating atmosphere in which peaceful elections could be held. Some of these are enumerated below:

Termination of Election Campaign

3. According to Section 84 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976, no public meeting or procession can be held within constituency during a period of forty eight hours ending at midnight of following conclusion of the poll. The election campaign for General Elections came to an end with effect from the midnight falling between 9th and 10th May, 2013. The legal restriction was strictly applied which resulted in cooling down political sentiments immediately before the polling day.

Magisterial Powers

4. All DROs, ROs, AROs, and Presiding Officers detailed on polling duty were authorized by the ECP, to exercise powers of Magistrates 1st class under the Code of Criminal Procedure through summary proceedings in respect of the offences punishable under Section 80, 82, 82A, 83, 84, 85, 86 and 87(1) of the Act.¹⁸ Though this provision is rarely used by concerned officers but it proved to be a deterrent and by and large the atmosphere on the polling day remained congenial and peaceful.

¹⁷ Article 220 of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Certain prohibitions in and around Polling Stations

5. The law prohibits establishing camps and campaigning within 400 yards of polling stations¹⁹. Similarly, hoisting of banners and use of loudspeakers within the radius of 100 yards of a polling station is also not allowed. These prohibitions had salutary effect on overall atmosphere on the polling day.

Code of Conduct

6. The Political Parties Order, 2002 provides that ECP shall frame, in consultation with political parties, a code of conduct for political parties.²⁰ The political parties play a major role in ensuring peaceful and harmonious political environment during the electioneering campaign. ECP, therefore, issued, after consultation with political parties, a “Code of Conduct for the Political Parties and candidates” and supplied copies thereof to them. The code of conduct was also given wide publicity for information of contesting candidates and general public.

Meeting with Provincial Governments

7. The ECP held a series of meetings with senior officers of Federal Government and Provincial Governments in order to review arrangements made for maintenance of law and order. These meetings also helped in evolving strategies to cope with different situations arising during election campaign and on the polling day. More detailed meetings with senior officers of Federal and Provincial Governments were held on 2nd January, 2013 and 25th April, 2013 in which Federal Secretaries, Chief Secretaries, Provincial Police Officers and representatives of Army and other Law Enforcing Departments also participated.

Polling Day

8. Elaborate arrangements were made on the polling day to ensure that the voters are able to exercise their right to vote without any fear or intimidation from anyone. At sensitive polling stations, heavy presence of Police and Paramilitary Forces was ensured. The Army also patrolled in sensitive areas and constituencies. The law and order situation on the polling day throughout the country generally remained calm except in some areas where few minor incidents were reported. Domestic and international observers also acknowledged, in their reports, that General Elections were held on 11th May, 2013 in relatively peaceful manner.

¹⁹ Section 85 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976.

CHAPTER-XVIII

THE POLL

The right to vote is arguably one of the most important rights of citizenship in a democratic country. This is the day on which electors have an opportunity to make informed decisions about their representatives by electing them by exercising their right of vote independently and freely. The polling day is the climax of all electoral activities, both for the contesting candidates and the ECP. It is also crucial day for the ROs who are responsible for conduct of elections. Hence, every conceivable step was taken by the ECP to ensure that polling is held smoothly and in accordance with law.

2. The polling for elections to the National Assembly and all the four Provincial Assemblies were held simultaneously on the 11th May, 2013. The whole country bore a festive look on the day and long queues of electors were witnessed outside polling stations even before the polling started at 8:00 am in the morning which continued till 5.00 p.m. in the afternoon without any break. About 86 million registered voters were to cast their votes at 69,729 polling stations having 193,235 polling booths throughout the country. The Presiding Officer had overall responsibility of maintaining law and order and conducting polling at the polling station. They were well trained in the process of conduct of polling. ECP carried out extensive voters' education programme to enable them to cast their votes properly and in an orderly manner. Election Agents, Polling Agents and domestic and international observers were also there to observe the polling process.

3. The polling process went on smoothly and on the whole it was held in a peaceful manner without any major disturbance. National and international observers visited polling stations of their choice in all the four Provinces, Federal Capital and FATAs. The observers were almost unanimous in their observations that polling process on the whole was well organized, smooth and peaceful.

4. The Presiding Officers regulated admission to polling stations in accordance with instructions issued by the ECP from time to time. The DROs and ROs also paid visits to various polling stations to oversee functioning of these stations. Complaint Centres were established at District, Provincial and Central level. The Central Control Room was established in ECP Secretariat, Islamabad under the supervision of Director General (Elections).

Any complaint received from any corner of the country was promptly looked into and disposed of immediately.

Extension in time for poll

5. In Karachi, polling process could not start at 8.00 a.m. in the morning on the poll day due to law and order situation. In order to provide equal opportunity to all electors from all constituencies, time for polling in the affected constituencies was extended for three-hours, which helped the voters standing in long queues from morning till evening waiting to cast their votes to actually exercise their right to vote in the election.

Postponement of Election

6. Election could not be held in constituency No NA-38 Tribal Area-III due to precarious law and order situation in the area.

Termination of Proceedings

7. Section 18 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 provides that in the event of death of a contesting candidate before the day for taking poll, the RO shall by public notice terminate proceedings relating to that election and fresh proceedings shall be commenced in accordance with the law. In the following cases the ROs terminated proceedings due to death of one of contesting candidates in each constituency:

National Assembly:

NA-83 Faisalabad-IX
NA-254 Karachi-XVI

Provincial Assembly of the Punjab:

PP-51 Faisalabad-I
PP-217 Khanewal-VI
PP-254 Muzaffargarh-IV

Provincial Assembly of the Sindh:

PS-64 Mirpurkhas-I
PS-95 Karachi-VII

Provincial Assembly of the Balochistan:

PB-32 Kacchi-III

Admission to Polling Stations

8. Admission to polling station was regulated in accordance with the provisions of Section 31 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976. Contesting candidates with their election agents and polling agents, persons on election duty and such other persons specifically permitted by RO through entry passes were allowed to enter the polling station. Special passes were also issued by the ECP to its Officers as well as to the representatives of the local/foreign media and to domestic and international observers.

Incapacitated or Blind Voter

9. Another prominent feature of polling process was the concession allowed to the blind or otherwise incapacitated electors, as is available under the existing law. Such an elector was allowed by the polling staff to take a companion, not below the age of 18 years, with him into polling booth and that companion was to mark the ballot paper on behalf of the blind or incapacitated voter according to his choice. This facility was subject to the condition that the companion could not be the candidate himself or his agent.

10. At the end of polling, the Presiding Officers carried out counting of votes cast at their polling station in the presence of polling agents and observers as were present there. The entire process beginning from the display of empty ballot boxes in the morning and ending at the count of votes and preparation of the Statements of the Count and Ballot Paper Account was held under the watchful eyes of candidates, election agents, polling agents and observers.

CHAPTER-XIX

TRANSMISSION OF ELECTION RESULTS

The most important and eagerly awaited process in elections is the announcement of results after the polls. The election process, which starts with filing of nomination papers by the candidates, culminates with the announcement of results of election. Therefore, it is imperative to have an efficient, swift and credible result communication system. It is one of core features of elections in Pakistan that preliminary (unofficial) results are announced immediately after the completion of polling, followed by announcement of consolidated results by the ROs.

2. ECP had made two different arrangements for the collection and announcement of preliminary (unofficial) and final results of General Elections 2013. One was traditional system which was adopted in the past while second one was modern and computerized system which was developed by UNDP and was named as Results Management System (RMS). A well coordinated and integrated communication plan was prepared for speedy collection of election results and their announcement in as short time as could be possible under prevailing circumstances. Arrangements were also made to upload preliminary results on the ECP's website as soon as these were received in the Central Control Room set up in the ECP Secretariat at Islamabad. The ECP had finalized well in advance the methodology of collection, dissemination and announcement of preliminary (unofficial) election results. For the purpose, a communication link between the ROs offices and ECP was established for the purpose of compiling and transmitting the election results to the Central Control Room of the ECP at Islamabad.

3. The process of tabulation of election results through RMS was introduced for the first time specially designed for the automation of various electoral processes. Main objective of the RMS was to provide transparency, accuracy and efficiency to electoral process. This system was designed to provide polling station based results to all stakeholders in a timely manner. It also facilitated ROs to create and/or manage polling scheme, nomination of candidates, tabulation and transmission of results and thus enabled the ECP to have more accurate reports on voters' turn out, tally progress and polling station based election results. More importantly, ECP was able to have electronic record of the whole process for further improvement in the electoral system. The following steps were envisaged at the office of each Returning Officer:

- i. Receiving of Form XIV by the RO from the Presiding Officers;
- ii. Opening the software and entering polling station number into the system;
- iii. System asks for scanned copy of Form XIV;
- iv. Form XIV was required to be scanned and saved into the system;
- v. Software shows all fields of Form XIV to be entered;
- vi. All fields were required to be entered and data so entered was required to be saved after asking checking the entries for the second time;
- vii. Polling station results were required to be saved in the system along with the scanned copy of Form XIV;
- viii. After all Form XIV were processed in the above manner, a preliminary tally-sheet could be generated, followed by draft Forms XVI and XVII;
- ix. The RO before consolidating the results was supposed to check each 'excluded vote' and count the one which he considered was valid. He was also supposed to count the valid 'postal ballots' if any and make necessary entries into the system;
- x. After ensuring that all entries were correctly entered/made, the RO was to authorize the system to generate Final Results on Forms XVI and XVII;
- xi. After consolidating results of the constituencies and generating Forms XVI and XVII from the software, the RO was to print the hard copies, sign and send them to ECP headquarters (HQ). Simultaneously data was also to be transferred to ECP HQ subject to availability of Internet connection. In case the Internet connection was not available, RO was supposed to get the data saved on USB in encrypted format and to send the same to ECP HQ by email from any other location where internet connectivity was available.

5. The following hardware/equipment for RMS was procured and provided by UNDP:

- i. 550 Packages (Desktop+Peripherals+APC+Multi-function printer+USB drive) for ROs;
- ii. 150 Laser Printers for ROs;
- iii. 4 Rack mountable servers (1 SAS, 1 Rack, 1 KVM, 2 UPS) and 2 color heavy duty printers for Server Room in ECP HQ;

6. The RMS facilitated the ROs by introducing a fully computerized system for preparation of Forms XVI and XVII. It also enabled the ECP to follow the countrywide results tabulation process in real time, wherever possible (due to internet connection) while maintaining a paper trail and simplicity of the process.

7. A help desk was established in ECP Secretariat to facilitate the end users of RMS, which provided requisite support to ROs and data entry staff to ensure smooth functioning of RMS across the country. Help desk enabled the ROs and their staff to perform their tasks smoothly and reduced the error rate during data entry operations. It provided technical support, troubleshooting and other solutions to the field staff.

8. The Presiding Officers were directed to send results of the count of their respective polling stations immediately after its completion to RO of the constituency through the quickest possible means. The ROs had drawn comprehensive communication plans in advance to facilitate communication of unofficial results in shortest possible time. These plans were also provided to Presiding Officers to enable them to ensure that the results reach the ROs safely and in time.

9. The ROs after compiling the unofficial results of the constituency sent these results, in prescribed form, to the ECP Secretariat at Islamabad through telefax and over telephone and announced the same locally as well.

10. In the ECP Secretariat at Islamabad, five Result Receiving Centers were set up in the main Control Room — two for Punjab and one each for Sindh, KPK and Balochistan. Ten teams were formed which worked for 12 hours by rotation. Incharge of each team received results over telephone as well as fax. After ensuring that the results thus received tally with each other the same were passed on to the Incharge of Control Room for releasing the result to print and electronic media and IT Wing of the ECP for uploading the same on the ECP's website without any delay. The Control Room teams were headed by the Deputy Directors who worked under the over-all supervision of Director General (Elections). Four large size screens were installed in the main Control Room to display progressive results of National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies' constituencies instantly as were received in the result receiving centers. Besides, a large number of print and electronic media representatives, national and international observers, foreign correspondents and representatives of the leading dailies were also present in the Central Control Room to cover the event and most of them were telecasting the unofficial constituency results through live transmissions.

11. The ROs, in terms of sections 39 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 issued notices to contesting candidates regarding day, time and place for consolidation of results of their respective constituencies. They carried out consolidation of results in the prescribed manner in the presence of candidates, their election agents and domestic and international observers. The consolidation of results in Form-XVI was carried out by the ROs on the basis of Statements of Count (Form-XIV) furnished by the Presiding Officers of all Polling Stations of the constituency.

CHAPTER-XX

COMPLAINTS / ELECTION DISPUTES

Complaints resolution is an important part of an election process which helps the general public or a candidate to seek resolution of his complaint and/or dispute relating to an election. While there are certain election disputes for which law provides appropriate mechanism for adjudication thereof but the Commission has to take action in respect of complaints of general nature in order to redress the grievances of the complainants in areas where law does not specifically provide any adequate remedy.

2. An election has three major components, namely, the delimitation of constituencies, preparation/revision of electoral rolls and actual conduct of election which culminates with the announcement of results. Complaints arise not only from any activities undertaken by the Commission for the completion of these three areas of electoral process but also from other election related laws, rules and directives of the Commission. Besides, complaints of general nature also arise from an election. Despite some constraints, the Commission strived hard for timely and effective disposal of complaints received by it during the pre-poll, poll-day and post poll period of the general elections, 2013.

Complaints regarding Electoral Rolls

3. The complaints started pouring in with the commencement of the process of updating of the electoral rolls, which were finally published on 31st July, 2012. A central complaint cell was established in the ECP Secretariat, Islamabad for the quick disposal of complaints pertaining to the electoral rolls. Province-wise number of complaints received and disposed of in this regard is as under:

Province	No. of complaints received	Disposed of
Punjab& Federal Capital	385	385
Sindh	178	178
Khyber Pakhtunkhwa	75	75
Balochistan	123	123
Total	761	761

4. Besides above, pre-poll complaints also arise from violations of any provisions of the election laws, rules, any directive issued by the Commission or any provision of the Codes of Conduct by the candidates and/or political parties. Such complaints inter alia relate to the announcement of development projects by the Government or party or parties in power, interference of government functionaries in election process, volatile law & order situation leading to threatening atmosphere for candidates and electors, acceptance or rejection of nomination papers by the ROs, appointment of biased polling staff or change of polling staff close to the day of poll, establishment of polling stations at such places as could render it difficult for certain electors to go to these polling stations due to long distance or any other reason and thus prevent them from exercising their right to vote.

5. The above in view, the Commission, immediately after the announcement of schedule for general elections, 2013, constituted a Complaint Cell headed by Additional Director General (Elections) in the ECP Secretariat, Islamabad for quick redressal of complaints received from general public, political parties and candidates. All such complaints were thoroughly examined and dealt in accordance with law.

Election Petitions

6. Article 225 of the Constitution provides that no election to a House or a Provincial Assembly shall be called in question except by an election petition presented to such Tribunal and in such manner as may be determined by an Act of Parliament. Sections 52 to 77 (Chapter-VII) of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 provides for the presentation of an election petition, limitation involved in filing a petition, security deposits, parties to the petition, contents of petition, appointment of Election Tribunals, trial and disposal of petition, etc.

7. Every election petition is required to contain a precise statement of material facts, full particulars of any corrupt or illegal practice allegedly committed along with the names together with the place and date of commission of such illegal and corrupt practice. The petitioner may claim any of the following reliefs:

- a. that the election of returned candidate is void;

- b. that the election of returned candidate is void and that the petitioner or some other person has been duly elected; or
- c. that the election as a whole is void.

8. Every election petition and every schedule or annex to that petition is required to be signed by the petitioner and verified in the manner presented under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 for verification of pleadings.

Appointment of Election Tribunals

9. Under the law, the Commission may appoint as many Election Tribunals as may be necessary. A person, who is, or, has been, or, at the time of his retirement as a District and Sessions Judge, was qualified to be a Judge of a High Court, can be appointed as Tribunal for the trial and disposal of election petitions. For the first time, in order to ensure speedy disposal of election petitions, the retired District and Sessions Judges, who at the time of their retirement were qualified to be the Judge of a High Court, were appointed as Tribunals. The detail of such Tribunals is given below:

Number of Election Tribunals

In addition, 24 election petitions relating to subsequent bye-elections were also filed, out of which one (01) petition was dismissed by the Commission, whereas 23 election petitions were referred to the Tribunals for trial and disposal. CHAPTER XXI

ELECTION TO THE SEATS RESERVED FOR WOMEN AND NON-MUSLIMS

Every nation strives for the betterment of its people and for that purpose the people elect their representatives to the legislature to legislate for the benefit of the electorates they are representing to. However, in doing so, some segments of the society remain unrepresented in the legislature due to cultural, religious and various other factors and it becomes difficult for them to compete successfully against politically strong party candidates on general seats. These unrepresented or underrepresented segments are commonly called as 'marginalized groups' of the society. Women and minority groups are at the top of the list in marginalized groups. Women being an important segment of our body politic and numerically about half of the population, it is absolutely essential that they are appropriately represented in every representative body. Likewise, non-Muslims also make good portion of the population hence their interests can only be ensured by reserving seats for them in the relevant representative body. In order to safeguard the interests of such marginalized groups, each nation provides some reserved seats for them so as to enable them to have their say in the decision making process.

Brief History

2. The lawmakers since the creation of Pakistan tried to provide representation to marginalized groups of the society in elected bodies so that their voices are heard and their rights are safeguarded. In this regard, it is worth mentioning that Article 44(1) of Constitution of 1956 envisaged a National Assembly having 300 general seats and in addition to this, ten seats were reserved for women, of whom five were to be elected from East Pakistan and five from West Pakistan. It is important to mention that the constitution envisaged creation of ten territorial constituencies for filling the aforesaid seats reserved for women. In the subsequent Constitution of 1962, however, the National Assembly consisted of 218 members in accordance with clause (1) of Article 20 whereas clause (2) of same Article provided for eight seats exclusively reserved for women (four seats for East Pakistan and four seats for West Pakistan). When Legal Framework Order was promulgated in 1970, the representation of women in National Assembly was enhanced to thirteen: seven from East Pakistan and six from West

Pakistan. The original Constitution of 1973 provided that for a period of 10 years from the commencing day or the holding of the third General Elections to National Assembly, whichever occurs later, twenty seats shall be reserved for women. Accordingly the number of reserved seats for women in the national assembly for general elections held in 1977, 1985, 1988, 1990, 1993 and 1997 remained twenty. The reserved seats for women in National Assembly were increased to 60 through the Legal Framework Order 2002 (Chief Executive's Order No.24 of 2002). Needless to mention that the aforesaid Legal Framework Order got validation and affirmation through Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution on 31st December, 2003.

3. So far as seats reserved for non-Muslims in National Assembly are concerned, this matter can be traced back to 1975 when through Fourth Amendment to Constitution of 1973, six seats were reserved for non-Muslims. These seats were retained in the Houses of Parliament and Provincial Assemblies (Elections) Order 1977 [President's (Post-Proclamation) Order 5 of 1977]. Later this number was raised to ten seats in 1985 vide President's Order No.14 of 1985 and since then non-Muslim members are being regularly elected against such seats.

Present position

4. Currently, the number of seats reserved for women and non-Muslims in the National Assembly is as under:

S.No.	Province	No. of seats for Women	No. of non-Muslim seats
1	Balochistan	03	10
2	KPK	08
3	Punjab	35
4	Sindh	14
Total		60	10

The number of seats for women and non-Muslims in the Provincial Assemblies is as under:²¹

S.No.	Province	No. of seats for Women	No. of non-Muslim seats
1	Balochistan	11	3
2	KPK	22	3
3	Punjab	66	8
4	Sindh	29	9
Total		128	23

²¹ Article 106 of the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan.

Methodology for Elections

5. It is laid down in Article 51(6)(b) of the Constitution that each Province shall be a single constituency for all seats reserved for women in National Assembly, which are allocated to that Province. Similarly, the constituency for all seats reserved for non-Muslims in National Assembly shall be the whole country as per Article 51(6)(c). The law further provides that the members to fill seats reserved for women, which are allocated to a Province, shall be elected through proportional representation system of political parties' lists of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats won by each political party in National Assembly from the Province concerned. Like-wise the members to fill seats reserved for non-Muslims shall be elected through proportional representation system of political parties' lists of candidates on the basis of total number of general seats won by each political party in National Assembly.

6. Each Province is a single constituency for all seats reserved for women and non-Muslims, which are allocated to respective Provinces. CHAPTER-XXII

CONDUCT OF BYE-ELECTIONS

Per Article 219 of the Constitution, the Commission is charged, inter-alia, with the duty of organizing and conducting election to fill casual vacancies in the National Assembly or a Provincial Assembly whereas clause (4) of Article 224 thereof requires the Commission to hold election within 60 days from the occurrence of such a vacancy. Section 108 of the Representation of the People Act, 1976 (hereinafter in this Chapter referred to as the Act) provides that when the seat of a member becomes vacant, the Commission shall, by notification in the official gazette, call upon the constituency concerned to elect a person to fill the seat from such constituency before such date as may be specified in the Notification and thereupon the provisions of the Act and Rules framed thereunder shall apply, as far as may be, to the election to fill such seat. By virtue of aforesaid provisions in the Constitution and the law, bye-elections to fill the casual vacancies in the National/Provincial Assemblies were required to be held after the General Elections' proceedings were over. In all, there were 41 seats in the National/Provincial Assemblies which fell vacant due to various reasons, detail of which can be found in following paragraphs.

A. Vacation of Seats under Article 223 of the Constitution:

2. Article 223 of the Constitution provides that no person shall, at the same time, be a member of both Houses, or a House and a Provincial Assembly, or the Assemblies of two or more Provinces or a House or a Provincial Assembly in respect of more than one seat. If a person is declared elected from more than one seat, he is entitled to retain one seat of his choice and to resign from the other seat or seats within a period of thirty days after declaration of the result. In General Elections 2013, twenty-three persons were elected to more than one seat thereby involving forty nine seats in the National Assembly and Provincial Assemblies. They took oath in the Assembly of their choice and the remaining twenty-six seats were declared vacant as per detail given below:

CHAPTER-XXIII

REPORTS OF THE FOREIGN AND NATIONAL OBSERVERS

Observation of an election by one or more independent parties, typically from another country or a non-governmental organization (NGO), primarily to assess the conduct of an election process on the basis of national legislation and international election standards is generally considered by the states to have an important role in promoting transparency and accountability as well as enhancing public confidence in the electoral processes. The Commission has always welcomed international and domestic election observers and facilitated their access to the polling sites by issuing them special Accreditation Cards. For general elections 2013, 817 International Observation Missions/Organizations and 45925 Domestic Election Observers were issued Accreditation Cards.

Election Observation Reports

2. A summary of Election Observation Reports of international and domestic observers is given below:

a. Election Observers Mission of the Government of Japan:

- ▶ They observed the election process from May 9 to May 11, 2013 and reported that the people of Pakistan showed enthusiasm by casting their votes which is proof that democracy is gradually taking hold in Pakistan. They reported that, “Despite attacks and disturbances, the people of Pakistan have overcome difficulties and the election was by and large successfully and peacefully held.” While appreciating ECP’s role, they reported that the ECP was consistently cooperative with the Japanese and other foreign observers and that the Missions were able to freely visit all the polling stations. They also reported that, “to avoid rigging such as double voting, the voters’ list with photographs of voters were made available in addition to verification by ID cards, and the forefingers of those who finished casting their ballots were smeared with ink. These multiple identification measures could be appreciated.” They also reported that, “as a whole, there were improvements in terms of fair elections, although some rigging of votes were reported. As far as our mission’s observation is concerned, not even a small act of rigging was detected and this could be evaluated as a great advance towards democracy.” In particular, they appreciated presence of a large number of female voters who cast their votes at the polling stations.

b. The International Human Rights Commission (IHRC):

- ▶ Also showed its satisfaction over the conduct of general elections in a smooth and peaceful manner. In a press statement HRCP said. “It has been emphasized that HRCP’s election monitors on the ground across the country did not find any credible evidence of systematic or large scale rigging on May 11’ The HRCP in its statement said this view is based on findings of its election observers teams on the ground across the country. These teams had the benefit of HRCP’s record of observing each and every election in the country since 1988. They also appreciated ECP for its excellent cooperation and courtesies extended to them in connection with preparation of accreditation cards for International Human Rights Commission observers’ Mission.

c. European Union Observation Mission:

- ▶ In its preliminary report of May 13, 2013, EUOM declared elections as ‘satisfactory and largely fair. They reported that “There is increased confidence in the ECP”. The final report highlighted that the ECP was generally seen as operating with more independence than in 2008. In contrast to 2008, the ECP had undertaken some stakeholder consultation which contributed to their better performance and increased confidence in the Institution. They accepted in their report that strong commitment was shown to the democratic process by political parties, candidates and voters who continued to participate in the electoral process. The report said that overall 9% polling stations were poorly managed. The report dismissed the notions that intelligence agencies had any interference in the election process. They accepted that there were 55% of voters’ turn out.
- ▶ The 2013 election were the first to be held under the obligations of the UN International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) which Pakistan ratified in June 2010. The report says that the legal framework has also been further improved through various amendments to the Constitution, which amongst other things provided for a parliamentary process for the appointment of the leadership of the ECP, Caretaker Prime Minister and Chief Ministers. These mechanisms were effectively implemented for these elections.
- ▶ EU mission thanked ECP for the cooperation and help which facilitated their work and ability to fulfill their responsibilities.

d. National Democratic Institute (NDI) and Asian Network for Free Election (ANFREL):

- ▶ NDI and ANFREL commented that there were many improvements in the election process. The delegation of NDI which included, Former prime minister of Norway Mr. Kjell, Magne Bondevik, former, member of U.S House of Representative Mr. Russ Carnhan, former member of justice of Ireland Nora Owen, former minister of cabinet of Philippine etc reported much enthusiasm among voters on election day, with many saying polls would lead to their better future. The delegation cited many improvements in the electoral process. They observed that ECP enjoyed a high level of public confidence and constructed the most accurate voters list in the nation's history and print and electronic media reported extensively on the campaign. They identified some administrative problems. The report also contained number of recommendations.

e. The Commonwealth Observers:

- ▶ In the conclusion of their Mission's report, it has been observed that Pakistani voters turned out in very large numbers on 11 May 2013 to cast their ballots and express their will to elect their Provincial and National representatives. The elections were credible and represented notable progress for Pakistan towards holding fully democratic elections.
- ▶ The positive features of the 2013 elections included: an improved legal framework; a higher level of confidence in the ECP at the national level; a significantly improved voter registration process; election day procedures which in most instances were well managed, with the notable exception of parts of Karachi; and a very high turnout of the electorate to cast their votes.
- ▶ The legal framework provided the basic conditions for credible competitive elections and the 18th, 19th and 20th Constitutional Amendments and various electoral reforms have strengthened the framework for the elections. Significantly the 18th Amendment provides for increased independence of the ECP and a more inclusive process in the nomination of ECP members. This has increased the level of confidence in the election management body at the national level. It is significant that these are the first elections held under the full treaty obligations of the ICCPR, following Pakistan's removal of its reservations in 2010. This has further helped to improve the overall legal framework for the polls and the democratic process in the country.

- ▶ One of the ECP's main successes was the much improved Electoral Rolls and universal suffrage is better provided for than previously, though the shortfall of registered women voters remains to be addressed.
- ▶ ECP was generally well prepared for the polls in most areas and the process was well administered. But delays and other problems were experienced in some locations, with Karachi particularly affected.
- ▶ Commonwealth Observers' report expressed some concerns and shortcomings including violence in some parts of the country and gave some recommendations.

f. Gender Concerns International (GCI):

- ▶ In a letter to Secretary ECP, GCI expressed their utmost appreciation and gratitude for ECP for the enormous efforts to facilitate women inclusive elections in 2013. They also highly appreciated ECP's support on accreditations which enabled Gender Election Monitoring (GEM) mission to monitor a record 555 polling stations with 110 domestic and a team of international observers.
- ▶ This extraordinary outreach gave the GEM Mission's observation great credibility and provided the basis for our final report to have concrete recommendations

g. Free and Fair Election Network (FAFEN):

- ▶ FAFEN issued a report on 13th May 2013, in which they said "Despite some irregularities and violence, general election 2013 were relatively fair. Report praised the ECP for a smooth process, saying it had implemented several positive reforms. The report was based on summary reports from more than 41000 observers deployed across the country. They said, "The relatively high voter turnout and public enthusiasm for this election augurs well for democratic consolidation, bringing potential for more sustained citizen engagement and improved public accountability and governance." They issued some negative reports but later accepted their fault.

h. Gender Election Monitoring Mission (GEM) and Aurat Foundation

- ▶ Some of the initial findings of the GEM Mission and Aurat Foundation are "voting for general election 2013 remained peaceful and orderly by and large in the country except for a few untoward incidents. Over a hundred female election observers of Aurat Foundation monitored election activities from gender perspective throughout the day at 553 women polling stations in major cities of Pakistan in collaboration with international monitors of GCI.

i. Statement of United Nation's Secretary General Ban Ki Moon

- ▶ United Nations' Secretary General Ban Ki Moon congratulated the government and people of Pakistan on the successful conduct of national and provincial elections, hailing the poll, in which millions of voters turned out, as a major democratic step. The Secretary General said, in a statement by his spokesman, "This is the first ever transition from one civilian government to another and a significant step forward for democracy in the country".
- ▶ The Secretary General also commended the ECP for successfully organizing the polls, and reaffirmed the commitment of the United Nations to continue to support and assist the ECP.

j. Statement by the US President Barak Obama:

- ▶ "I congratulate the people of Pakistan on the successful completion of yesterday's parliamentary elections. The United States stands with all Pakistanis in welcoming this historic peaceful and transparent transfer of civilian power, which is a significant milestone in Pakistan's democratic progress. By conducting competitive campaigns, freely exercising your democratic rights, and persevering despite intimidation by violent extremists, you have affirmed a commitment to democratic rule that will be critical to achieving peace and prosperity for all Pakistanis for years to come."
- ▶ "The United States and Pakistan have a long history of working together on mutual interests, and my Administration looks forward to continuing our cooperation with the Pakistani government that emerges from this election as equal partners in supporting a more stable, secure, and prosperous future for the people of Pakistan."

k. Comments from other observers

- ▶ German Foreign Minister, Westerwelle, in a statement, said that the high turnout for the election was a clear and courageous sign of democracy and against terrorism.
- ▶ Turkish Embassy issued a statement congratulating Pakistan for the general elections that attained the highest level of participation ever recorded. "These elections, carried out successfully despite numerous acts of terrorism, are an achievement of Pakistan democracy, with all its voters, its candidates and its political parties.”

- ▶ Senior Foreign Office Minister, Baroness Syeda Warsi told the News that Briton was of the view that the May 11 elections are “an historic milestone in Pakistan’s democratic history”. I hope these elections are both credible and acceptable to the Pakistani people, she added.
- ▶ France hailed holding of elections in Pakistan and said, in a statement from French Embassy, Islamabad that, “These elections were characterized by the strong and brave mobilization of voters, women and men, who, despite violence caused by extremist groups, freely chose to express the diversity of their opinions.”
- ▶ Malaysian Commonwealth Studies Centre and the Cambridge Malaysian Education and Development Trust in its Report stated: “In Pakistan, the first ever peaceful transfer of power from one civil government to another civil government, by election, has recently taken place. In Pakistan’s storm-tossed history of trying to establish electoral democracy on secure foundations, the elections of May 2013, and their outcome, represent a significant landmark, not only for Pakistan but for the subcontinent as a whole.”

2. The ECP took various positive measures since the 2008 elections, including Computerized Electoral Rolls with photographs, 8300 SMS facility, Five Year Strategic Plan 2010-2014, consultation with political parties and civil society organizations that improved ECP actions and confidence in the Institution. 4. Hundreds of foreign organizations and dignitaries namely European union (EU), US Embassy, USAID, National Democratic Institute for International Affairs (NDI), ANFREL, Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission (IEBC), British High Commission, Australian High Commission, Canadian High Commission, Commonwealth, UNDP, Embassy of Japan, and many others representing various countries including United states, Britain, Australia, Canada, Japan, Myanmar, Nigeria, Turkey, and Maldives etc. visited Pakistan and they observed the conduct of poll meticulously from the very beginning.

Code of Conduct

8. Daily Times lauded the role of ECP in its editorial for devising first-rate Code of Conduct for contesting candidates and political parties, published on 16th April 2013.

- ▶ “ECP's new code of conduct”
- ▶ “The Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) has re-elucidated in some detail its code of conduct for the elections so as not to leave any doubts about its will to ensure peaceful, free and fair elections. Interestingly, the reiteration of the part of the code of conduct that has aroused the most interest is when the ECP lays down in clear terms that no one will be allowed to seek votes in the name of religion or sect. Of this more later, but there are other aspects of the code that underline the determination of the ECP to fulfill its task to the hilt. The ECP must be lauded for setting out the ground rules for what promises to be Pakistan's most historic election ever.”
- ▶ ECP's steps for ensuring free, fair and credible polls

عوامی مینڈیٹ کی تقدیس

خدا کا شکر ہے کہ انتخابات بروقت ہوئے اور امن و امان کی صورت حال خراب کئے بغیر انجام پائے۔ اطمینان کا پہلو یہ ہے کہ ٹرن آؤٹ بھر پور رہا۔ دہشت گردی کے خدشات کی وجہ سے عمومی تاثر یہ تھا کہ بہت کم لوگ اپنا حق رائے دہی استعمال کرنے کیلئے باہر نکلیں گے لیکن ملک بھر میں ووٹرز دہشت گردی کے خطرات کو خاطر میں نہ لائے اور پولنگ اسٹیشنوں پر پہنچ کر جمہوریت اور اس نظام کے حق میں اپنی کثرت رائے کا اظہار کر دیا۔ جمہوری نظام کے حق میں اعتماد کا اظہار کرنے پر عوام بلاشبہ مبارک باد کے مستحق ہیں۔ عوام کے بعد پاکستان الیکشن کمیشن بھی خراج تحسین کا حقدار ہے کہ اس نے بہت سے قابل قدر اقدامات کئے۔ سب سے پہلے تو تصویروں کے ساتھ ووٹرز لسٹ کے اہتمام پر الیکشن کمیشن مبارکباد کا مستحق ہے۔ انتخابات کو دھاندلی سے پاک بنانے کی کوششوں میں یہ ایک اہم قدم تھا۔ دوسری آسانی SMS کے ذریعے ووٹرز کو اپنے پولنگ اسٹیشن کے بارے میں معلومات کی سہولت تھی۔ (تحریر: آغا میر حسین) (روزنامہ نوائے وقت، اسلام آباد، مورخہ 29 مئی 2013)

Despite shortcomings, a monumental task of getting 50 million to vote was accomplished, credit of which cannot be taken away from the ECP."

We hope to continue working with these brave women and support them to have greater participation in electoral processes.”

It was a day which shaped the history of Pakistan democratically and the role of women has become much more important to sustain democracy.”

So I think this was a good election” said IA Rehman, a veteran human rights activist.”

Hats off to the ECP for winning two international awards – the Accessibility Award and Use of Innovative

”الیکشن 2013ء کا مثالی کامیاب انعقاد“

الیکشن 2013ء پاکستان کی تاریخ میں مثالی انعقاد پر الیکشن کمیشن آف پاکستان عبوری حکومتیں اور ملک کے مقتدر اداروں کے تعاون پر پوری قوم ان سب کو مبارکباد پیش کرتی ہے اور منتخب ہونے والے افراد، کامیاب ہونے والی جماعتوں سے امید رکھتے ہیں کہ وہ ملک و قوم کی ترقی و خوشحالی اور امن و سلامتی کے لئے اتحاد و اعتماد کے ساتھ کام کریں گے تاکہ پاکستان کی جمہوری ریاست ایک مضبوط اسلامی فلاحی ریاست بن جائے۔ الحمد للہ آج ملک میں آئین و قانون کی بالادستی قائم ہے اور موجودہ الیکشن کمیشن آف پاکستان تمام سیاسی دینی، مذہبی اور جمہوری جماعتوں کے اتفاق رائے سے وجود میں آیا اور اس ادارے نے اپنی آئینی و قانونی ذمہ داری بہترین طریقے سے ادا کی اور پاکستان کی قومی جمہوری تاریخ کے سب سے بڑے الیکشن کو ایک نئے ریکارڈ کے ساتھ سرانجام دیا۔ یہ بھی پاکستان کی جمہوری تاریخ کا نیا ریکارڈ ہے کہ ٹرن آؤٹ اور حق رائے دہی کا تناسب ساٹھ فیصد رہا دوسری کامیابی ملک کے خراب ترین لاء اینڈ آرڈر اور تشدد پسند ہشت گرد گروپوں اور تنظیموں کی خونریز دھمکیوں کے باوجود الیکشن کے انعقاد کو ممکن بنایا ہے۔

- ▶ “Millions of Pakistanis expressed their support for the democratic process by voting despite extremist attempts to disrupt the polls,” the groups said in a statement. The stage has been set for the country’s first transfer of power from one democratically elected government to the next.” The delegation reported much enthusiasm among voters on election day, with many saying the polls would lead to a better future. The delegation cited many improvements in the electoral process, such as: more parties and candidates competed than in the last polls in 2008; there were more than twice as many women running for general seats in the National Assembly, though their numbers remained very low; parties that boycotted the 2008 elections reentered the political process; parties cooperated as never before on the creation of an improved electoral system; the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) enjoyed a high level of public confidence and constructed the most complete and accurate voter list in the nation’s history; and print and electronic media reported extensively on the campaign and issues of concern to voters.”

Global post America’s World News Site

Pakistanis voted today in the national and provincial elections amid Taliban threats of suicide bombing targeting polling stations. Though elections in the country were mostly free and fair, voting in some of Karachi's constituencies was marred by allegations of rigging and polling stations that opened hours after the designated time.”

32. In a column written by Mirza Aslam Beg in Daily The Nation, the elections 2013 were declared as historic moment published on 31st May 2013:

- ▶ “Elections 2013: a historic moment”
- ▶ “The people’s verdict of May 11 has demolished several myths and established new realities that promise a bright future for Pakistan. The realization that this country cannot nurture democracy has finally ended due to the voters, who have rejected most of the corrupt and incompetent politicians, thus correcting the course of democracy.”

33. Daily Times highlighted the significance of Elections-2013 in its story dated 16th May 2013:

- ▶ “Significance of elections held in Pakistan on May 11”
- ▶ “A sense of ownership of the country’s affairs has been assumed by the masses, who believe in the rhetoric repeatedly put forward by the media, of how important it is to vote. Pakistan’s burgeoning news channels played a pivotal role in making sure that voter turnout broke all previous records, reflecting increased awareness amongst the masses. The opinion makers cum intellectuals who sit on talk shows, and have a huge following amongst the masses have largely made the politicizing of Pakistanis possible. Regardless of the outcome of these elections, it is safe to say that Pakistan has woken up. The passiveness and indifference of the people has dissipated and the upper and middle-income strata of society are taking unprecedented interest in politics.”

34. In the editorial of Daily Express, the findings and report of European Union Observation Mission was reported wherein elections-2013 were declared as free, fair and better than 2008 elections, published on 12th July 2013:

یورپی یونین کے الیکشن مبصر مشن کی مثبت رپورٹ

یورپی یونین کے الیکشن مبصر مشن نے حالیہ انتخابات کے حوالے سے حتمی رپورٹ جاری کرتے ہوئے انتخابات کو مجموعی طور پر اقوام متحدہ کے مینڈیٹ کے 70 فیصد کے قریب صحیح قرار دیا ہے۔ رپورٹ میں کہا گیا ہے کہ موجودہ انتخابات دو ہزار آٹھ سے زیادہ آزادانہ اور منصفانہ تھے ان انتخابات میں کسی بھی خفیہ ادارے کے ملوث ہونے کے ثبوت نہیں آئے۔ 2013 کے الیکشن پہلی بار مکمل طور پر جمہوری حکومت کی سرپرستی میں ہوئے اور ایک جمہوری حکومت نے اقتدار پر امن طور پر دوسری جمہوری حکومت کو منتقل کر دیا۔ 2013 کے انتخابات اس حوالے سے اہم تھے کہ پہلی بار خود مختار الیکشن کمیشن تشکیل دیا گیا جس نے ملک میں آزادانہ اور منصفانہ انتخابات کرانے کا اعلان کیا۔ امیدواروں کی سکروٹی کے عمل کو یقینی بنانے کی کوشش کی گئی۔ الیکشن کمیشن نے جس جانفشانی اور لگن سے کام کیا اسی کا نتیجہ ہے کہ الیکشن مبصر مشن کو بھی یہ اعتراف کرنا پڑا کہ انتخابات 70 فیصد کے قریب درست تھے۔ الیکشن کمیشن کی بہتر کارکردگی کے باعث کسی خفیہ ادارے نے انتخابات میں مداخلت نہیں کی اور وہ مکمل طور پر جمہوری اداروں کی زیر نگرانی ہوئے۔ الیکشن کمیشن کے جرأت مندانہ اقدامات ہی کا نتیجہ تھا کہ خیر پختہ خوا اور بلوچستان میں بم دھماکوں اور دہشت گردوں کی دھمکیوں کے باوجود انتخابات منعقد ہوئے اور لوگوں کی ایک بڑی تعداد نے ووٹ ڈالے جس کے نتیجے میں جمہوری حکومت کا قیام

یقینی ہوا۔ یورپی یونین کے مبصر مشن نے بھی سیاسی جماعتوں کی جانب سے وائٹ پیپر جاری کرنے کی مذمت کرتے ہوئے کہا ہے کہ انتخابات عالمی ممالک کی جانب سے انجینئرڈ ہونے یا طے شدہ منصوبے کے مطابق ہونے کا کوئی ثبوت نہیں ملا۔ (اداریہ) (روزنامہ ایکسپریس، اسلام آباد، مورخہ 12 جولائی 2013)

35. Daily Dawn reported the findings of HRCP declaring elections-2013 as free of any systematic rigging published on 14th May 2013:

- ▶ “No rigging evidence: HRCP”
- ▶ “The Human Rights Commission of Pakistan election monitors across the country did not find any evidence of systematic rigging on May 11 and urged all political parties to respect the people’s verdict and avoid doing anything that could derail the democratic system. In a press statement issued on Monday, the HRCP said: “Taking note of protests by some political parties against the election results, HRCP wants to remind all parties that the democratic process that has been revived in the country after much exertion must not be disrupted. We wish to point out that HRCP did not find any credible evidence of large-scale or systematic rigging in the country. This view is based on the findings of HRCP election observation teams on the ground across the country. These teams had the benefit of HRCP’s record of monitoring each and every election in the country since 1988.”
